I'M AFTER THEM!

Look out for the sleek-tongued varments that tell you the Advance is not the best machine in the market. Those that tell you falsehoods are not worthy of being called by any other name. The ADVANCE is guaranteed to do more and better work than any other machine in the market, and is the only machine on the Coast that has NEVER been replaced by other machines. Other dealers have offered new machines for an ADVANCE that has been run two years, and have given parties to understand they would give differences, but were told that the ADVANCE, after two years' run was still much better than old fogy machines, if they were new. And if the ADVANCE engine is not the best traction engine, why is it that I have sold TWELVE on the West Side, between Portland and Corvallis, this year?

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

Axtell Trots a Mile in 2:14 at Washington Park,

BREAKING HIS PREVIOUS RECORD

Other Racing Events at Morris Park, Saratoga and Poughkeepsie—League and Association Games

CHICAGO, Aug 23.—This was a great day's sport at Washington park to-day. Axtell, the phenomenal three year old, trotted to beat his own record, and did so, making a mile in 2:14. Axtell's mile clips 1½ of a second off from his former record of 2:15½, notwithstanding the fact that even that was better than the best previous performance by three or four year olds. It is also within ¾ of a second of Patron's 2:14¼, which stands as the best record for a stallion of any age.

The circumstances under which this record was made are likely to give rise to endless discussions as to whether it was a record in a race or against time. Axtell and Earl McGregor were on the card as starters in the stallion stake, and the card also announced that Axtell would go to beat his own record. The first heat was trotted under the usual conditions of the race and served merely as a warmer, the time being 2:19. In the next heat, that in which the record was made, Axtell had a running horse to accompany and encourage him from the upper turn to the finish, Earl McGregor being far behind and cutting no figure. The heat was trotted fairly and without a skip to within about seventy feet of the wire when, owing to bad judgment in the handling of the runner, the little stallion was startled into a run and galloped under the wire. Whether or not he gained by the break is an open question.

2:21 class—Frank Middleton first, Almont second, Sally Cossack third, others ruled out; best time 2:[illegible].

Washington park stake, 2:21 class—Allerton first, Passenger Boy second, Eliza third, So Long fourth; best time 2:18¾.

Stallion stake—Axtell first, Earl MacGregor second; time 1:[illegible], 1:07—1:41—2:14.

2:[illegible] class, pacing—Maggie R won the first and second heats; best time 2:18.

BASEBALL

Indianapolis, Chicago, Washington, New York and Philadelphia the League Winners.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug 23.—Up to the seventh inning to-day Cleveland had made only three hits off of Boyle in to-day's game. After that he was hit hard, and it was only by brilliant fielding on the part of the Hoosiers at critical moments that the game was saved. Score: Indianapolis 7, Cleveland 6. Base hits—Indianapolis 10, Cleveland 10. Errors—Indianapolis [illegible], Cleveland 3. Batteries—Indianapolis, Boyle and Sommers; Cleveland, Beatin, Snyder and Zimmer. Umpires—Sullivan, Zimmer and O'Brien.

CHICAGO, Aug 23.—To-day's game was a pitchers' contest throughout, Staley getting a trifle the best of it. [illegible] Carroll's muff of Van Haltren's easy fly in the first inning lost the game for Pittsburg. Attendance [illegible]. Score: Chicago 2, Pittsburg 1. Base hits—Chicago [illegible], Pittsburg 6. Errors—Chicago 2, Pittsburg 3. Batteries—Chicago, Hutchinson and Farrell; Pittsburg, Staley and Fields. Umpire—Lynch.

BOSTON, Aug 23.—In ten innings the Washingtons defeated the Bostons to-day. The latter had the game well in hand till the sixth inning, when Knight gave Daley a terrible roasting. Boston tied the game in the ninth and went one ahead in the tenth, but in their half of the tenth the Washingtons made two runs. Score: Washington 8, Boston 7. Base hits—Washington 8, Boston 3. Errors—Washington 1, Boston 1. Batteries—Washington, Keefe, Fearon and Mack; Boston, Daley and Ganzel. Umpire—Knight.

TWO GAMES AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—The New York and Philadelphia teams played two games at the polo grounds to-day. The giants won the first game and the Quakers the second game. It was the first victory the Philadelphia team has won in New York this year.

First game: Score—New Yorks 7, Philadelphia 3. Base hits—New York 11, Philadelphia 6. Errors—New York 5, Philadelphia 2. Batteries—New York, Welch and Ewing; Philadelphia, Gleason and Clements. Umpire—McQuaid.

Second game: Score—New York 2, Philadelphia 11. Base hits—New York 6, Philadelphia 10. Errors—New York 1, Philadelphia 2. Batteries—New York, Crane and Brown; Philadelphia, Buffington and Clements. Umpire—McQuaid.

ASSOCIATION GAMES

CINCINNATI, Aug 23.—Cincinnati 4, Brooklyn 10.

KANSAS CITY, Aug 23.—Kansas City 7, Athletics 5.

At the Bellevue Rifle Range

OMAHA, Neb., Aug 23.—Yesterday was the first of the preliminary practice of the distinguished marksmen at Bellevue rifle range. The weather was fair, and the scores made were very good. The competitors came from all departments of the army and are considered the best marksmen in the service. Both cavalry and infantry are represented, but they shoot separately.

The highest scores out of a possible 200 were: For the infantry 1[illegible], by John [illegible], Battery B, First artillery; for the cavalry 1[illegible], by Adam [illegible], Troop [illegible], Second cavalry.

THE ROVING UTES

Governor Cooper Has Telegraphed the President Concerning Them.

DENVER, Colo., Aug 23.—Governor Cooper of Colorado has received a strong protest from the citizens of Routt county, Colorado, asking the governor to give them relief and protection from the roving bands of Ute Indians that have been furnished with permits to leave their reservation on White river for the purpose of hunting in the adjoining counties, where they are at present slaughtering game merely for their hides. Not content with this pastime, they do not hesitate occasionally to kill a fat steer belonging to some ranchman, or to borrow the ranchmen's horses and forget to even leave their own worn out ponies in their places.

Two years ago these same Indians were permitted to leave their reservation on the same kind of an errand, and it ended in several lives being lost on both sides and a cost to the state of about $300,000, in order to drive them back to their reservation.

The citizens of Routt and the adjoining counties have not forgotten how their fellow-men were shot down in cold blood by the bloodthirsty savages, and how they were compelled to leave their ranches and take their families to Glenwood Springs and other towns for safety. They are determined not to have a repetition of the scenes of four years ago, and will try to avoid all trouble with the Indians until the proper officials can have time to order the Indians to go back to their own homes, and where the temptation of fresh scalps is not so great.

Governor Cooper has very wisely telegraphed President Harrison to look into the matter at once, and it is to be hoped that the trouble will be ended.

Captain Williams, the commanding officer at Fort Logan, near Denver, has sent an officer to Glenwood Springs to make a thorough investigation, and in case the troops are needed his command is ready to move on a moment's notice. Captain Williams has had experience with the same Indians before and will no doubt understand how to handle them to the best advantage.

GOVERNOR COOPER'S DISPATCH

WASHINGTON, Aug 23.—A telegram was to-day received at the executive mansion from Governor Cooper of Colorado, and was immediately referred to the Indian bureau.

In it Governor Cooper says: "I am in receipt of a communication by mail signed by a number of citizens of Routt county, Colorado, adjoining the Uintah reservation. The citizens of Routt county beg leave to represent that large bodies of Ute Indians have come into the North country to hunt. They slaughter the deer, kill and eat the cattle and steal the horses. They have permits from the agents for thirty and sixty days. This, together with their innumerable ponies, has become a great nuisance which can not longer be peaceably endured. They respectfully request that steps be taken to try and prevent their coming into Routt county again.

"I have been advised that our people of that region have suffered so much in loss of life and property from these predatory Indians that they are in no temper to put up with their menacing presence again, and nothing but prompt and effective action on the part of the Federal government will prevent trouble. If they are there by the fault of the Federal government, the action of the agent giving them permits is, in view of the danger, a most indefensible crime and should be properly rebuked. Your excellency will have better means of getting official information than I concerning their absence from the reservation, and I earnestly urge you to take steps to recall them before trouble ensues."

Upon the recommendation of the Indian bureau the communication will be referred to the war department, with such action as may be deemed proper.

WAS IT A CONSPIRACY?

An Improbable Story of Love, Lucre and False Imprisonment

LONDON, Aug 23.—The remarkable story which appeared in several papers a few days ago concerning the alleged imprisonment of George Dunning, a young newspaper circulator, for having won the affections of a millionaire's daughter, was apparently confirmed to-day in an interview with Dunning himself at the Tothill prison. He states that he became acquainted with the young lady while making his rounds early in the morning.

The millionaire soon learned of the acquaintanceship, and one day he (Dunning) was arrested on a charge of burglary, together with one Frank Allen, with whom he was conversing. They were sentenced to four years' imprisonment each, but Allen's sentence was reduced on various pretexts and he was finally released. Dunning has seven months yet to serve.

The young lady engaged a lawyer, but the millionaire Dunning said bought him off. The editor of a bankrupt paper learned the story and the millionaire was compelled to purchase his silence by the payment of $10,000 in cash.

Dunning was fast breaking down under his prison regime when a police official took notice of his case and secured lighter work for him. Two attempts to secure his pardon have failed. Dunning states that he heard the young lady was shortly to be married to a Chicago man.

THE BEHRING SEA SEIZURES.

A Probability That the Matter Will Be Amicably Settled

OTTAWA, Aug 23.—It is now admitted in political circles here that Lord Stanley has made urgent representations regarding the recent seizures in Behring sea.

A leading official of the fisheries department says that he feels certain that an international commission will be appointed, after the expiration of the Alaska Commercial Company's contract, to settle the Atlantic and Behring sea questions. He feels confident that compensation for the late seizures will be paid the Canadian vessel owners.

Hon. M. Mackenzie Bowell, minister of customs, has telegraphed to Victoria for information regarding the recent seizures in Behring sea. He expressed himself as pleased with the attitude assumed by the London Times on this question.

ENGLAND READY TO NEGOTIATE

LONDON, Aug 23.—The press association says: The English government has intimated to the United States government its willingness to negotiate a settlement of the Behring sea matter, and now awaits the American government's reply.

THE MAYBRICK CASE.

The Body Servant of the Deceased Husband Interviewed in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—Thomas Stanzel, who was an important witness in the Maybrick case, arrived from England yesterday and was interviewed here to-day. He says the English people generally opposed the verdict. Concerning the merits of the case, Stanzel says he does not believe she poisoned him. "I was Mr Maybrick's body servant for four years before his marriage at Norfolk, Va. While I lived with him Maybrick often complained that he did not feel well, and time and time again sent me to the drug store to get him arsenic. He bought half a dollar's worth at a time. I made beef tea and he would put the arsenic in and drink it. Maybrick continued the use of arsenic, and toward the last of my service the doses of arsenic grew larger and he wanted more rubbing. For nine years he used arsenic."

A THROUGH CAR SERVICE

The Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific Traffic Agreement.

MILWAUKEE, Aug 23.—The Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific traffic agreement takes form to-morrow in the shape of the through car service from Chicago to Tacoma, W. T., and Portland, Or., opening the first unbroken connection from Lake Michigan across the continent to the Pacific Northwest.

Preparing for the Encampment.

MILWAUKEE, Aug 23.—The first Grand Army delegation to arrive in the city came to-night from Southern California, forty-four strong. Notice has been received of the arrival to-morrow of about 10,000 veterans. The city is handsomely decorated. The business sections are almost a continuous mass of bunting and garlands of green.

A Brave Police Captain Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—Police Captain Sanders is dead. He rescued seven persons from drowning, for which congress voted him a medal. He had great repute for bravery. He had been a policeman for twenty-three years.

Offered an Appointment.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug 23.—A Bee special from Nebraska City says General John C. Watson, of this city, is to-day in receipt of a telegram from President Harrison, offering him the United States district attorneyship of Alaska.

Pains in the back, kidney and liver troubles are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give it a trial.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

Two Freight Trains Collide Near Meacham Station.

A FIREMAN INSTANTLY KILLED

Two Passenger Trains on the B. & O. Collide Near Parkersburg, W. Va.—Three Men Killed and a Number Wounded

PENDLETON, Or., Aug 23.—A disastrous wreck occurred yesterday afternoon on the mountain division of the Short Line near Meacham station, close to the summit of the Blue mountains. No. 8, an east going freight, was [illegible] with a double header attached, was toiling up the mountain at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. Shortly after the leading engine had passed through the tunnel a short distance this side of Meacham station, Engineer Barnhart glanced out of the cab window and saw the engine of No. 19, the west bound freight, coming at about a ten mile rate about fifty yards away. He exclaimed [illegible] and his fireman, Frank McConnell, [illegible] in the act of scooping up a shovelful of coal just as the two engines struck. McConnell was caught between the engines and instantly killed.

In the collision the two opposing engines were wedged closely together, while the second engine on No. 8 crowded forward and pushed the tender in front to one side and reared square on top of the boiler of the leading engine. In the [illegible] it rolled to one side, and thus freed Barnhart, who had been caught in his cab like a mouse in a trap by the crush, and narrowly escaped his fireman's fate. There was scarcely room to jump, the accident occurring in a rock cut, and the engineers and firemen on the remaining locomotives stayed with their engines.

Fireman McLinn was badly scalded on the head and arms, and [illegible] was injured on the head. Engineer Harris received a severe cut on his [illegible], his fireman escaping without injury.

[illegible] head brakeman of No. 19, whose name could not be learned, jumped from the train into a pile of rocks and got off with a sprained leg and a few bruises.

Conductor Olmstead, who had charge of the west bound freight, and the conductor of the east bound train both escaped uninjured.

After the collision search was made for McConnell, and his dead body was found held and crushed between the two engines and scalded by the escaping steam. Efforts to release the corpse of the unfortunate fireman were made, but without avail at first. It was 8:30 o'clock in the evening before his remains were finally extricated from the wreck, badly bruised, burned and mutilated.

Coroner McKay left to-day for the scene to hold an inquest on the remains, which will be brought to Pendleton this evening and conveyed to Helix for burial.

McConnell has a mother and three sisters living in the East.

Engineer Barnhart, who found himself seriously injured after the first excitement of the shock was over, was brought to Pendleton on the east bound passenger, which was compelled to return to this place on account of the wreck, but his condition is not considered dangerous.

There were seven or eight car loads of cattle on the east bound train, some of which were injured. The three engines were all badly damaged in the collision.

No cause is assigned for the accident, but it is understood of course that some one has blundered.

A special left Pendleton last evening for the scene of the collision and returned during the night.

The west bound passenger, which returned to Pendleton and remained here all night in order that proper accommodations could be provided for the passengers, was joined by another train from Portland this morning, and the two sections left on regular schedule time. The track is now all cleared and ready for trains.

PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDE.

Three Men Instantly Killed and Fifteen or Twenty Injured

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug 23.—A collision occurred this morning on the Baltimore & Ohio between Petroleum and Silver Run tunnel, about twenty-three miles east of Parkersburg, in which three men were instantly killed and fifteen or twenty wounded. The accommodation train coming west crashed into a special train occupied by railway magnates on a tour of inspection. The cause of the wreck is said to have been conflicting train orders. Both trains were running at a rapid rate of speed, and when they collided with a crash, the special train and the engine, tender and baggage car of the accommodation went over the [illegible] in one indescribable mass.

James Layman, engineer of the accommodation, and Alexander Bailey, fireman for Layman, were crushed in the wreck of the engines. Cephas Rowland, engineer, was caught under the tender and had one leg broken and received internal injuries from which he cannot recover. John Fletcher, fireman on the special, was also killed.

The special car, occupied by officials on an inspecting tour, was smashed to pieces. Roadmaster A. Hunter was badly injured with several others. George Douglass, in the same car, was also injured.

In the accommodation train were many passengers, all of whom received a terrible shaking up and were more or less injured.

R. J. Mattey, of Parkersburg, a member of the city council, was badly injured. Jefferson [illegible], baggagemaster of the accommodation, was also seriously hurt.

"THE ELIXIR OF LIFE."

An Editorial From a Medical Journal on the New Discovery

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—The Medical Record this morning prints an editorial by Dr. George F. Shrady on Dr Brown-Sequard's elixir of life. The article says the subject has received a much greater share of newspaper attention than is usually bestowed on medical topics. This is most unfortunate, for the public discussion of such an absurdity tends only to bring scientific medicine into ridicule. Its vaunted efficiency is on its face preposterous. Its vaunted effects are impossible and ridiculous. It is opposed to all known physiological and biological laws, and had it not been bolstered up by the reputation of Dr. Brown-Sequard it would scarcely have been heard of outside of the Paris society where it was proposed, and no one would have looked upon it in any other light than as the foolish conceit of an old man in whose mind the dreams of returning youth had assumed the counterfeit of reality. The experiments reported by Dr Loomis are sufficient, we think, to satisfy the demands of legitimate prudence. The results of these experiments seem to show that the injected material acts in certain cases as a mechanical stimulant, but that is all. They will fail utterly to support the extravagant claims of physical and mental rejuvenation which have been put forward in behalf of this method.

THE BLACK REPUBLIC.

An Aide-de-Camp of Legitime Brings News of Another Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 23.—A special from New York says: Stephen Preston, aide-de-camp to Legitime, arrived here from Hayti this morning, bringing news that in an engagement at La Coupe a gatling gun killed all but thirty-eight out of [illegible]50 followers of Hippolyte. There are 7000 of Legitime's soldiers on the ramparts at La Coupe, but there is no telling when they will go over to Hippolyte, as most of them are from southern towns. Preston says La Coupe once captured by Hippolyte, Port au Prince would go also, and Hippolyte be victorious. He would not be surprised to hear at any time that Port au Prince had fallen.

Correspondence by last post says that in the battle at La Coupe 140 were killed and wounded on each side. Port au Prince is now invested on all sides except by water. Foreign war vessels are near, patiently waiting for its fall.

THE NORTHWESTERN ROADS.

A Resolution Adopted Cancelling the 15 cent Scale of Rates.

CHICAGO, Aug 23.—In consequence of the ruling rendered by Judge Cooley of the interstate commerce commission, the Northwestern roads to-day agreed to withdraw the proportional tariff recently established between Chicago and St Paul, originating at Eastern points.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that the 15 cent scale of rates should be canceled August 26, and that Chairman Frothern be constituted a committee of one to confer with the Eastern roads without delay, for the purpose of effecting arrangements for the establishment of through joint tariffs between Eastern points and St. Paul, to meet the competition of the Northern routes.

An adjourned meeting will be held September 3 to hear the chairman's report.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

Axtell Trots a Mile in 2:14 at Washington Park,

BREAKING HIS PREVIOUS RECORD

Other Racing Events at Morris Park, Saratoga and Poughkeepsie—League and Association Games

CHICAGO, Aug 23.—This was a great day's sport at Washington park to-day. Axtell, the phenomenal three year old, trotted to beat his own record, and did so, making a mile in 2:14. Axtell's mile clips ¾ of a second off from his former record of 2:14¾, notwithstanding the fact that even that was better than the best previous performance by three or four year olds. It is also within ¼ of a second of Patron's 2:13¾, which stands as the best record for a stallion of any age.

The circumstances under which this record was made are likely to give rise to endless discussions as to whether it was a record in a race or against time. Axtell and Earl MacGregor were on the card as starters in the stallion stake, and the card also announced that Axtell would go to beat his own record. The first heat was trotted under the usual conditions of the race and served merely as a warmer, the time being 2:19. In the next heat, that in which the record was made, Axtell had a running horse to accompany and encourage him from the upper turn to the finish, Earl MacGregor being far behind and cutting no figure. The heat was trotted fairly and without a skip to within about seventy feet of the wire, when owing to bad judgment in the handling of the runner the little stallion was startled into a run and galloped under the wire. Whether or not he gained by the break is an open question.

2:21 class—Frank Middleton first, Almont second, Sally Cossack third, others ruled out. Best time, [illegible]

Washington park stakes, 2:31 class—Allerton first, Passenger Boy second, Loiza third, So Long fourth. Best time 2:18¼.

Stallion stake—Axtell first, Earl MacGregor second. Time, [illegible]

2:25 class, pacing—Maggie R won the first and second heats. Best time 2:18.

BASEBALL.

Indianapolis, Chicago, Washington, New York and Philadelphia the League Winners.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug 23.—Up to the seventh inning to-day Cleveland had made only three hits off of Rusie in to-day's game. After that he was hit hard and it was only by brilliant fielding on the part of the Hoosiers at critical moments that the game was saved. Score: Indianapolis 7, Cleveland 6. Base hits—Indianapolis 10, Cleveland 10. Errors—Indianapolis 4, Cleveland 5. Batteries—Indianapolis, Rusie and Sommers; Cleveland, Gruber, Snyder and Zimmer. Umpires—Sullivan, Zimmer and O'Brien.

CHICAGO, Aug 23.—To-day's game was a pitchers' contest throughout, Staley getting a trifle the best of it, but Carroll's muff of Van Haltren's easy fly in the first inning lost the game for Pittsburg. Attendance 2500. Score—Chicago 2, Pittsburg 1. Base hits—Chicago 3, Pittsburg 6. Errors—Chicago 2, Pittsburg 3. Batteries—Chicago, Hutchinson and Farrell; Pittsburg, Staley and Fields. Umpire—Lynch.

BOSTON, Aug 23.—In ten innings the Washingtons defeated the Bostons to-day. The latter had the game well in hand till the sixth inning, when Knight gave Daley a terrible roasting. Boston tied the game in the ninth and went one ahead in the tenth, but in their half of the tenth the Washingtons made two runs. Score—Washington 8, Boston 7. Base hits—Washington 8, Boston 5. Errors—Washington 1, Boston 1. Batteries—Washington, Keefe, [illegible] and Mack; Boston, Daley and Ganzel. Umpire—Knight.

TWO GAMES AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—The New York and Philadelphia teams played two games at the polo grounds to-day. The giants won the first game and the Quakers the second game. It was the first victory the Philadelphia team has won in New York this year.

First game: Score—New Yorks 7, Philadelphia 3. Base hits—New York 11, Philadelphia 6. Errors—New York 5, Philadelphia 2. Batteries—New York, Welch and Ewing; Philadelphia, Gleason and Clements. Umpire—McQuaid.

Second game: Score—New York 2, Philadelphia 11. Base hits—New York 6, Philadelphia 10. Errors—New York 1, Philadelphia 2. Batteries—New York, Crane and Brown; Philadelphia, Buffington and Clements. Umpire—McQuaid.

ASSOCIATION GAMES.

CINCINNATI, Aug 23.—Cincinnati 4, Brooklyn 10.

KANSAS CITY, Aug 23.—Kansas City 7, Athletics 5.

At the Bellevue Rifle Range.

OMAHA, Neb, Aug 23.—Yesterday was the first of the preliminary practice of the distinguished marksmen at Bellevue rifle range. The weather was fair and the scores made were very good. The competitors came from all departments of the army and are considered the best marksmen in the service. Both cavalry and infantry are represented, but they shoot separately.

The highest scores out of a possible 200 were: For the infantry 174, by John [illegible], Battery B, First artillery; for the cavalry 1[illegible], by [illegible], Troop F, Second cavalry.

THE ROVING UTES.

Governor Cooper Has Telegraphed the President Concerning Them.

DENVER, Colo, Aug 23.—Governor Cooper of Colorado has received a strong protest from the citizens of Routt county, Colorado, asking the governor to give them relief and protection from the roving bands of Ute Indians that have been furnished with permits to leave their reservation on White river for the purpose of hunting in the adjoining counties, where they are at present slaughtering game merely for their hides. Not content with this pastime they do not hesitate occasionally to kill a fat steer belonging to some ranchman, or to borrow the ranchmen's horses and forget to even leave their own worn-out ponies in their places.

Two years ago these same Indians were permitted to leave their reservation on the same kind of an errand, and it ended in several lives being lost on both sides and a cost to the state of about $200,000, in order to drive them back to their reservation.

The citizens of Routt and the adjoining counties have not forgotten how their fellowmen were shot down in cold blood by the bloodthirsty savages, and how they were compelled to leave their ranches and take their families to Glenwood Springs and other towns for safety. They are determined not to have a repetition of the scenes of four years ago, and will try to avoid all trouble with the Indians until the proper officials can have time to induce the Indians to go back to their own homes and where the temptation of fresh scalps is not so great.

Governor Cooper has very wisely telegraphed President Harrison to look into the matter at once, and it is to be hoped that the trouble will be ended.

Captain Williams, the commanding officer at Fort Logan, near Denver, has sent an officer to Glenwood Springs to make a thorough investigation, and in case the troops are needed his command are ready to move on a moment's notice. Captain Williams has had experience with the same Indians before and will no doubt understand how to handle them to the best advantage.

GOVERNOR COOPER'S DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, Aug 23.—A telegram was to-day received at the executive mansion from Governor Cooper of Colorado, and was immediately referred to the Indian bureau.

In it Governor Cooper says: "I am in receipt of a communication by mail signed by a number of citizens of Routt county, Colorado, adjoining the Uintah reservation. The citizens of Routt county beg leave to represent that large bodies of Ute Indians have come into the North country to hunt. They slaughter the deer, kill and eat the cattle and steal the horses. They have permits from the agents for thirty and sixty days. They, together with their innumerable ponies, have become a great nuisance which can not longer be peaceably endured. They respectfully request me to try and prevent their coming into Routt county again.

"I have been advised that our people of that region have suffered so much in loss of life and property from these predatory Indians that they are in no temper to put up with their menacing presence again, and nothing but prompt and effective action on the part of the Federal government will prevent trouble. If they are there by the fault of the Federal government, the action of the agent giving them permits is, in view of the danger, a most indefensible crime and should be properly rebuked. Your excellency will have better means of getting official information than I concerning their absence from the reservation, and I earnestly urge you to take steps to recall them before trouble ensues."

Upon the recommendation of the Indian bureau the telegram has been referred to the war department for such action as may be deemed proper.

WAS IT A CONSPIRACY?

An Improbable Story of Love, Lucre and False Imprisonment.

CHICAGO, Aug 23.—The remarkable story which appeared in several papers a few days ago concerning the alleged imprisonment of George Dunning, a young newspaper circulator, for having won the affections of a millionaire's daughter, was apparently confirmed to-day in an interview with Dunning himself at the Joliet prison. He states that he became acquainted with the young lady while making his rounds early in the morning.

The millionaire soon learned of the acquaintanceship and one day he (Dunning) was arrested on a charge of burglary, together with one Frank Allen, with whom he was conversing. They were sentenced to four years' imprisonment each, but Allen's sentence was reduced on various pretexts and he was finally released. Dunning has seven months yet to serve.

The young lady engaged a lawyer, but the millionaire, Dunning said, bought him off. The editor of a bankrupt paper learned the story and the millionaire was compelled to purchase his silence by the payment of $10,000 in cash.

Dunning was fast breaking down under his prison regimen when a police official took notice of his case and secured lighter work for him. Two attempts to secure his pardon have failed. Dunning states that he heard the young lady was shortly to be married to a Chicago man.

THE BEHRING SEA SEIZURES.

A Probability That the Matter Will Be Amicably Settled.

OTTAWA, Aug 23.—It is now admitted in political circles here that Lord Stanley has made urgent representations regarding the recent seizures in Behring sea.

A leading official of the fisheries department says that he feels certain that an international commission will be appointed, after the expiration of the Alaska Commercial Company's contract, to settle the Atlantic and Behring sea questions. He feels confident that compensation for the late seizures will be paid the Canadian vessel owners.

Hon A Mackenzie Bowell, minister of customs, has telegraphed to Victoria for information regarding the recent seizures in Behring sea. He expressed himself as pleased with the attitude assumed by the London Times on this question.

ENGLAND READY TO NEGOTIATE.

LONDON, Aug 23.—The press association says: The English government has intimated to the United States government its willingness to negotiate a settlement of the Behring sea matter, and now awaits the American government's reply.

THE MAYBRICK CASE.

The Body Servant of the Deceased Husband Interviewed in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—Thomas Stanzel, who was an important witness in the Maybrick case, arrived from England yesterday and was interviewed here to-day. He says the English people generally opposed the verdict. Concerning the merits of the case, Stanzel says he does not believe she poisoned him. "I was Mr Maybrick's body servant for four years before his marriage at Norfolk, Va. While I lived with him Maybrick often complained that he did not feel well, and time and time again sent me to the drug store to get him arsenic. He bought half a dollar's worth at a time. I made beef tea and he would put the arsenic in and drink it. Maybrick admitted the use of arsenic, and toward the last of my service the doses of arsenic grew larger and he wanted more rubbing. For nine years he used arsenic."

A THROUGH CAR SERVICE.

The Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific Traffic Agreement.

MILWAUKEE, Aug 23.—The Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific traffic agreement takes form to-morrow in the shape of the through car service from Chicago to Tacoma, W T, and Portland, Or, opening the first unbroken connection from Lake Michigan across the continent to the Pacific Northwest.

Preparing for the Encampment.

MILWAUKEE, Aug 23.—The first Grand Army delegation to arrive in the city came to-night from southern California forty-four strong. Notice has been received of the arrival to-morrow of about 10,000 veterans. The city is handsomely decorated. The business sections are almost a continuous mass of bunting and garlands of green.

A Brave Police Captain Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—Police Captain Sanders is dead. He rescued seven persons from drowning, for which congress voted him a medal. He had great repute for bravery. He had been a policeman for twenty-three years.

Offered an Appointment.

OMAHA, Neb, Aug 23.—A Bee special from Nebraska City says General John C Watson, of this city, is to-day in receipt of a telegram from President Harrison, offering him the United States district attorneyship of Alaska.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

Two Freight Trains Collide Near Meacham Station.

A FIREMAN INSTANTLY KILLED.

Two Passenger Trains on the B & O Collide Near Parkersburg, W Va—Three Men Killed and a Number Wounded.

PENDLETON, Or, Aug 23.—A disastrous wreck occurred yesterday afternoon on the mountain division of the Short Line near Meacham station, close to the summit of the Blue mountains. No 8, an east-going freight, was [illegible] with a double header attached, was toiling up the mountains at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. Shortly after the leading engine had passed through the tunnel a short distance this side of Meacham station, Engineer Barnhart glanced out of the cab window and saw the engine of No 19, the west-bound freight, coming at about a [illegible] gait [illegible] about thirty yards away. He [illegible] his fireman, Frank McConnell, evidently [illegible] while in the act of scooping up a shovelful of coal just as the two engines struck. McConnell was caught between the engines and instantly killed.

In the collision the two opposing engines were welded [illegible] together, while the second engine on No 8 crowded forward and pushed the tender in front to one side and reared square on top of the boiler of the leading engine. In the [illegible] it rolled to one side and thus freed Barnhart, who had been caught in his cab like a mouse in a trap by the crush, and narrowly escaped his fireman's fate. There was scarcely room to jump, the accident occurring in a rock cut, and the engineers and firemen on the remaining locomotives stayed with their engines.

Engineer McLain was badly scalded on the hands and his fireman was injured on the hand. Engineer Harris received a severe cut on his cheek, his fireman escaping without injury.

The head brakeman of No 19, whose name could not be learned, jumped from the train on a pile of rocks and got off with a sprained leg and a few bruises.

Conductor Olmstead, who had charge of the west-bound freight, and the conductor of the east bound train both escaped uninjured.

After the collision search was made for McConnell and his dead body was found held and crushed between the two engines and scalded by the escaping steam. Efforts to release the corpse of the unfortunate fireman were made, but without avail at first. It was 8:30 o'clock in the evening before his remains were finally extricated from the wreck, badly bruised, burned and mutilated.

Coroner McKay left to-day for the scene to hold an inquest on the remains, which will be brought to Pendleton this evening and conveyed to Helix for burial.

McConnell has a mother and three sisters living in the East.

Engineer Barnhart, who found himself seriously injured after the first excitement of the shock was over, was brought to Pendleton on the east bound passenger, which was compelled to return to this place on account of the wreck, but his condition is not considered dangerous.

There were seven or eight car loads of cattle on the east bound train, some of which were injured. The three engines were all badly damaged in the collision.

No cause is assigned for the accident, but it is understood, of course, that some one has blundered.

A special left Pendleton last evening for the scene of the collision and returned during the night.

The west bound passenger, which returned to Pendleton and remained here all night in order that proper accommodations could be provided for the passengers, was joined by another train from Portland this morning, and the two sections left on regular schedule time. The track is now all cleared and ready for trains.

PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDE.

Three Men Instantly Killed and Fifteen or Twenty Injured.

PARKERSBURG, W Va, Aug 23.—A collision occurred this morning on the Baltimore & Ohio between Petroleum and Silverrun tunnel, about twenty-three miles east of Parkersburg, in which three men were instantly killed and fifteen or twenty wounded. The accommodation train coming west crashed into a special train occupied by railway magnates on a tour of inspection. The cause of the wreck is said to have been conflicting train orders. Both trains were running at a rapid rate of speed, and when they collided with a crash, the special train and the engine, tender and baggage car of the accommodation went over the cliff in an inconceivable mass.

Jim [illegible], engineer of the accommodation, and Alexander Bailey, fireman for Layman, were crushed in the wreck of the engines. Cephas Rowland, engineer, was caught under the tender and had one leg broken and received internal injuries from which he cannot recover. John Fletcher, fireman on the special, was also killed.

The special car occupied by officials on an inspecting tour was smashed to pieces. Roadmaster J A Hunter was badly injured, with several others. George Douglass, in the same car, was also injured.

In the accommodation train were many passengers, all of whom received a terrible shaking up, and were more or less injured.

R J Mather, of Parkersburg, a member of the city council, was badly injured. Jefferson Rose, baggagemaster of the accommodation, was also seriously hurt.

"THE ELIXIR OF LIFE."

An Editorial From a Medical Journal on the New Discovery.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—The Medical Record this morning prints an editorial by Dr George F Shrady on Dr Brown-Sequard's elixir of life. The article says the subject has received a much greater share of newspaper attention than is usually bestowed on medical topics. "This is most unfortunate for the public discussion of such an absurdity tends only to bring scientific medicine into ridicule. Its vaunted efficiency is on its face preposterous. Its vaunted effects are impossible and ridiculous. It is opposed to all known physiological and biological laws and had it not been bolstered up by the reputation of Dr. Brown-Sequard, it would scarcely have been heard of outside of the Paris society where it was proposed and no one would have looked upon it in any other light than as the foolish conceit of an old man in whose mind the dreams of returning youth has assumed the counterfeit of reality. The experiments reported by Dr Loomis are sufficient, we think, to satisfy the demands of extreme prudence. The results of these experiments seem to show that the injected material may, in certain cases, act as a mechanical stimulant, but that is all. They will fail utterly to support the extravagant claims of physical and mental rejuvenation which have been put forward in behalf of this method."

THE BLACK REPUBLIC.

An Aide-de-Camp of Legitime Brings News of Another Battle.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 23.—A special from New York says: Stephen Preston, aide-de-camp to Legitime, arrived here from Hayti this morning, bringing news that in an engagement at La Coupe a gatling gun killed all but thirty-eight out of 750 followers of Hippolyte. There are 7000 of Legitime's soldiers on the ramparts at La Coupe, but there is nothing [illegible] when they will go over to Hippolyte, as most of them are from southern towns. Preston says La Coupe once captured by Hippolyte, Port au Prince would go also, and Hippolyte be victorious. He would not be surprised to hear at any time that Port au Prince had fallen.

Correspondence by last post says that in the battle at La Coupe 150 were killed and wounded on each side. Port au Prince is now invested on all sides except by water. Foreign war vessels are near, patiently waiting for its fall.

THE NORTHWESTERN ROADS.

A Resolution Adopted Cancelling the 15 cent Scale of Rates.

CHICAGO, Aug 23.—In consequence of the ruling rendered by Judge Cooley of the interstate commerce commission the Northwestern roads to-day agreed to withdraw the proportional tariff recently established between Chicago and St Paul, originating at Eastern points.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that the 15-cent scale of rates should be canceled August 26, and that Chairman [illegible] be constituted a committee of one to confer with the Eastern roads without delay, for the purpose of effecting arrangements for the establishment of through joint tariffs between Eastern points and St Paul, to meet the competition of the Northern routes.

An adjourned meeting will be held September 3 to hear the chairman's report.

CAPTURED AT LAST.

An Absconding Postmaster Gives the Detectives a Long Chase.

ST LOUIS, Aug 23.—Information was received to-day of the arrest at Bentonville, Ark, of J R Cunningham, postmaster at Coffeeburg, Mo, who absconded with $5000 June 1st 1881, since which time detectives have pursued him as far west as San Francisco and east as far as Illinois and north to Manitoba.

NORTHWESTERN NEWS.

An American Schooner Seized by the Rush in Behring Sea.

HISTORY OF THE SEALING INDUSTRY

A Desperado Captured—The Oregon Journalists—Returning Delegates at Tacoma—Fort Walla Walla To Be Abandoned

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., Aug. 23.—The American sealing schooner James G. Swan, belonging to the Makah Indians near Cape Flattery, [illegible] by Mat [illegible] with an Indian crew, arrived here from Behring sea to-day.

The [illegible] reports that on July 30 in Behring sea the revenue cutter Rush overhauled the [illegible] took possession of the vessel [illegible] arms and 200 sealskins. The master was given an order signed by Commander Shepard of the Rush, ordering him to proceed direct to Sitka and surrender the vessel [illegible] customs. The revenue [illegible] were [illegible] ordered preserved and [illegible].

The schooner [illegible] to [illegible] Captain Benson [illegible] quainted with the coast [illegible] port. The Indians [illegible] would not care to go [illegible].

The vessel was turned over to Collector [illegible] Shaw here, who [illegible] telegraphed to the secretary of the treasury informing him of the circumstances and asking for instructions.

Lieutenant Tuttle of the Rush, who boarded the Swan, said that he had seized the British sealing schooners Pathfinder, Black Diamond and Minnie. The first two were placed in charge of a single seaman each, as prize crews, and dispatched to Sitka. The Minnie's documents [illegible] and skins were taken charge of and ordered to the same port.

The British sealing schooner Fanetta was captured on July 31 with 600 skins and sent to Sitka. Captain Benson was told by the officers that there were between forty and fifty sealing vessels in Behring sea and that the Rush could not afford to place a prize crew aboard each vessel seized.

The James G. Swan was formerly the British sealing schooner Annie Beck, which was seized in Behring sea in May, 1887, by the Rush and was condemned and sold, along with a cargo of sealskins, by the American officers.

THE SEAL FISHERIES.

A Complete History of the Industry From Early Days.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 23.—With respect to the early history of the sealing industry in British Columbia, it is well known that, owing to sparse settlement on the west coast of the province and Queen Charlotte islands, the taking of seal and hunting of sea otter was followed only by Indians, who pursued this industry in their own primitive manner, that is, by using a canoe and spear and seldom venturing beyond sight of land. Their success is only known to the traders who had stores or stations or trading schooners usually visiting the West coast during the season, while the population of later years, being chiefly engaged in other occupations, sealing and deep sea fishing did not seem to attract much attention, the few seals caught by the Indians adjacent to the coast were not considered sufficient inducement to seamen, and the habits of the seal, their yearly migration from Behring sea and long journey and return following food fish, were all matters not fully known or understood by our people. At all events it does not appear that the knowledge possessed of seal life by the hunters presented any extra inducement to them to follow this hazardous occupation.

Up to the year 1866 the sealing industry remained in the hands of the West Coast Indians, but in the year 1866 the schooner Kate, of Victoria, B. C., in charge of Dutch Harry and H. Ogilvie, left Victoria on a sealing and trading venture to the North Pacific and Behring sea. The success of the venture is unknown. It is said this voyage was made for [illegible] of the former kind were [illegible] at that time, the United States having [illegible] at that time acquired possession of Alaska. It is now generally believed that they did not enter Behring sea for the purpose of sealing; at all events, the parties are now dead and no authentic record can be found as to the success, if any, as a sealing voyage.

After that time some few years appear to have elapsed before the sealing business was much noted, [illegible] the few that [illegible] engaged on the west coast in the usual barter and exchange with the Indians. The pioneers of the sealing industry, namely, [illegible] Warren, Hugh McClay and William Spring, of whom the first mentioned only lives to impart the early history of this now important industry, reaped the reward of toil and returned to enjoy the fruits of their labor.

For the years 1878-79 the following schooners engaged in the traffic: Thornton, Anna Beck, Favorite, Onward. For 1880 the Mary Ellen was added to the fleet, and in 1881-82 several new vessels were built. In 1883 an American schooner was fitted out in San Francisco for the North Pacific and Behring sea to go on a sealing voyage.

In 1883 the following vessels were engaged as sealers: The schooners Favorite, Alfred Adams, Anna Beck, Dolphin, Grace, Onward, Thornton, W. P. Sayward, Black Diamond. In the year 1884 the schooner Mary Ellen, of Victoria, B. C., Daniel McLean master, fitted out at San Francisco with a crew of sixteen men, to hunt seals along the west coast, and entered Behring sea about the 15th of June and left about the end of August of the same year. The voyage was satisfactory to the owners and crew. They prosecuted their legitimate and peaceful voyage on the high seas without any interference from anyone. In the same year the schooners Favorite, Anna Beck, Alfred Adams, Dolphin, Grace, Onward, Thornton, W. P. Sayward and Black Diamond were all engaged in the sealing industry in the North Pacific.

In the year 1885, considered a prosperous one for sealers, the Mary Ellen and Favorite, of Victoria, entered Behring sea during June and left about the end of August. The other schooners, as per above list, did not hunt seals and did not enter Behring sea. A number of vessels were added to the fleet in the following year, 1886, and an enterprising firm, Carne & Munsie, brought around Cape Horn the schooner Pathfinder. This latter led to some immigration from the Eastern provinces of a hardy class of seamen well adapted to the sealing industry.

All vessels clearing from Victoria, B. C., entered Behring sea, with the exception of the schooners Active and Rustler, lost off Vancouver island.

The same year, 1886, was remarkable for the seizure of the Carolina, Onward and Thornton, the attending circumstances of which are now matters of history. The crew of the Onward were reported at Ounalaska. The master and mate of the Thornton were brought to trial before a judge named Dawson in the United States district court at Sitka. The master of the Thornton was sentenced to thirty days imprisonment and a fine of $500; the mate thirty days' imprisonment and a fine of $300. The master and mate of the Onward as also officers of the Caroline were [illegible] of similar penalties. The master of the latter vessel, one James Ogilvie, an [illegible] and a pioneer of British Columbia, well [illegible] by the owners and crews sailing from the [illegible] Victoria, was suffered to wander into the woods, where he died from want.

A DESPERADO CAPTURED.

Manfred Paine, Who Murdered Constable Hubbard, Now in Custody.

SPOKANE FALLS, W. T., Aug. 23.—News reached this city to-day of the surrender of Manfred Paine to the sheriff of Douglas county at Waterville.

He is accused of one of the bloodiest deeds ever perpetrated in Washington. He and his father came to this country from Missouri about three years ago. Constable Jack Hubbard, of this city, learned that a reward of $1000 was offered for the old man for a murder committed in Missouri. Hubbard procured a requisition and induced Frank Aiken, of this city, to assist in making the arrest. They drove to a point in Douglas county, and were joined by Sheriff Robbins. The three then proceeded to the Paine cabin at the foot of Badger mountain and took the old man into custody, no resistance being offered.

After seeing them safely on their way, Sheriff Robbins left the party and went home. When about thirty-five miles from Paine's place a man was observed on horseback evidently trying to overtake them. The prisoner pretended that he could not recognize him, as it was growing dark. They decided to stop and allow the man to come up and ascertain what he wanted. When the team stopped the pursuer dismounted, and dropping on his knee took deliberate aim with his Winchester and fired. The first shot struck the prisoner, who fell dead, his head hanging over the side of the vehicle. Wheeling the horses about, to serve as breastworks, Hubbard and Aiken returned the fire, but as their arms were inferior at such long range, 125 yards, their shots had no effect. Hubbard was struck in the leg, and one of the horses received a bullet in the breast. The men fought desperately until their ammunition was nearly exhausted. Finally Hubbard was struck in the face near the mouth, and fell apparently lifeless.

Realizing that he could not cope with the desperado alone, Aiken threw the dead prisoner out of the wagon and drove away. Soon the crippled horse fell and Aiken unhitched the other and started on horseback. The horse gave out five miles from Jamieson's ranch, and he walked that distance.

The little settlement was aroused and a posse went back to the scene of the tragedy. Old man Paine's body was found just as Aiken had left it, but Hubbard's body was a considerable distance away, with several bullet holes in various parts, indicating that the shot which knocked him down was not fatal, and that he had made another attempt to escape, but was followed and brutally murdered while in that helpless condition. He was buried on Jamieson's ranch, and Paine was taken home for burial.

Since that time young Paine has been a fugitive from justice, living in the mountains and defying the officers to capture him. He has been regarded as a desperate and dangerous outlaw, but now it is understood that he will endeavor to establish his innocence and prove that the murder was perpetrated by another party, who is nameless up to the present time.

THE JOURNALISTS.

Business Transacted at the Session Yesterday.

YAQUINA, Or., Aug. 23.—The Editorial Association accepted the invitation to cross the ferry and view the jetty and the wrecked Yaquina Bay to-day. Mr. Polhemus, the government engineer, placed the engine and cars used on the tramway for the use of the association, taking the entire membership on the trip. The steamer Willamette Valley in tow of the tug Resolute passed out while the association was at the wreck.

The business session opened in the opera house at 10 o'clock. The rollcall showed twenty news papers represented in person and numerous others by letter. The programme was adopted for the public meeting Saturday evening.

The following telegram was ordered sent:

The Oregon Press Association in session at Newport, Yaquina Bay, Or., sends greetings to the National Press Association and regrets that time will not admit [illegible] R. [illegible] BELL, President.

[illegible]

Report of the committee on the rates of [illegible] was adopted.

[illegible] officers [illegible] as follows: [illegible] president [illegible] treasurer, Ed Casey, sergeant-at-arms [illegible] R. N. Bell [illegible] Campbell, vice-president.

FROM TACOMA.

An Interesting Budget of News From the City of Destiny.

TACOMA, Aug. 23.—The lobby of the Tacoma hotel to-night crowded with returned delegates from the convention and politicians, all discussing the constitution and the political outlook. Both republicans and democrats profess to be hopeful of the result of the election, but the latter complain that the faithful, especially east of the mountains, are not coming forward with the necessary funds, while the national committee have absolutely gone back on them.

At one time there was a talk of the democratic party attempting to defeat the constitution at the polls, but this has been abandoned, and there will be a full state ticket nominated by that party.

The sixth annual concert and ball of The Tacoma on Tuesday next, promises to be the greatest success of the series. There has been an unprecedented call for tickets from Portland, Seattle and all parts of the coast. The proceeds are to be devoted to the Fannie Paddock hospital building fund, and Manager Tyler has arranged for one of the best concerts ever heard on the Sound, and, of course, the menu will be excellent.

The grand and petit jurors for the September term of court to be opened here on the 23d prox., were drawn to-day, and are as follows: Grand jurors—George D. Kelly, John Forbes, Willis Boatman, Harry Spinning, A. P. Pritchard, James Dorsey, Leroy A. Jones, Scott Hewitt, William Kandle, E. L. Bacon, Albert H. Sherman, John Norton, Nelson Bennett and Austin Wintermute. Petit jurors—Edwin Clark, John D. Oldham, Fred Jensen, Samuel Isaacson, Walter Chow, Abe Gross, Charles H. [illegible]beck, A. J. Jackson, A. B. Wright, Nicholas Clark, Charles Catlin, John Gustaveson, George W. Traver, Lewis Bird, S. T. Burr, H. C. Cox, D. C. Farrell, John Butler, C. Tondel, W. T. Triplet, Anthony Carr, Fred Seger, Ed Murray and R. Bowman.

Charles S. Fee, general passenger and ticket agent of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, was here to-day in consultation with Assistant General Passenger Agent Charlton. An effort is being made to cover the Cliff park, adjoining the Tacoma hotel, the only down town breathing place, with an armory, and the city council is being petitioned to surrender the ground to a company for that purpose free of all expense. There is a strong probability that the present council may be induced to grant the request of the petitioners, as this is almost the only piece of property that they could alienate that they have not given away.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

A Rumor That the Fort Will Be Abandoned—Attempted Prison Break.

WALLA WALLA, Aug. 23.—It is reported this evening that Colonel Clendenin, commandant of Fort Walla Walla, has recommended the abandonment of that post, because of the inadequacy of the water supply. There is plenty of water for all purposes except sewerage. This is furnished by Garrison creek, which runs through the garrison.

On account of the exceedingly dry season, the people living along that creek above the fort have used an unusual quantity of water therefrom to save their gardens or orchards, greatly diminishing the supply for the fort. The people refuse to stop taking the water, in spite of protests and appeals.

It is not thought that the abandonment will be made for the reasons stated above.

Thursday the warden of the penitentiary discovered a plot to release all of the convicts in the new wing of that institution. One of the convicts, named Dunn, working in the shops, had manufactured three well made keys, sufficient to unlock the doors of that wing. The plan was to give the keys to a trusty, who could easily unlock all of the doors giving freedom to a large number of convicts, who then could obtain further liberty by overpowering the guards. How Dunn secured the necessary impressions to make the keys as perfect as those found is a mystery.

FROM SALEM.

Death of Mrs. Charles Claggett, a Pioneer of 1852.

SALEM, Aug. 23.—The Fossil Water Company filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state to-day. The company intend to supply the city of Fossil and vicinity with fresh pure water; principal place of business Fossil, capital stock, $3000; F. B. Hoover, A. B. Lamb, W. W. Steiner, Patrick Patterson and Sydney G. Huwsen, incorporators.

William Jones's fine team ran off the ferry to-day at Wheatland and were drowned.

Talmage lectured at the opera house to-night to a crowded house.

Mrs. Charles Claggett, one of Oregon's old pioneers, died this evening. She crossed the plains in 1852, and has resided in Oregon ever since. She was a highly respected citizen. She is a sister of Senator Irvine, of Albany, and leaves a husband and two children, William Claggett and Mrs. J. M. Pugh, of East Portland.

OLYMPIA NEWS ITEMS.

The "Daily Olympian" Suspends—The Convention's Stationery Bill.

OLYMPIA, W. T., Aug. 23.—The Daily Olympian will suspend publication to-morrow. This journal during its career has remained neutral on the subject of politics, but in view of the approaching election Editor Murphy deems it advisable to suspend until spring.

The fire near the depot, reported last night, fortunately did but little damage, excepting to the timber in the vicinity.

The roof is being placed on the new hotel to-day.

It has been ascertained that the convention's bill for stationery was $700 less than the amount usually called for by legislative bodies, owing principally to the economy used by Sergeant-at-Arms Lalor in its distribution to the members.

Butte Races.

HELENA, Aug. 23.—A large crowd was at the Butte races to-day.

First race, trotting, three-year-old, born and raised in Montana, one mile heats, best two in three, purse $500, entries—May S, Tempest, Belmont and Juliette. May S won the first heat in 2:50 and Juliotta won the second and third, time, 2:40.

Second race, running handicap, purse $300—Daniel B first, Roly Poly second, Ida Glenn third.

Third race, running, one and one eighth miles, handicap, purse $500—Black Pilot first, Fandango second, Mose B third, time, 1:56¼.

Fourth race, pacing, free for all, $1000, best three in five, entries—Yolo Maid, Catawa, and Frank. Yolo Maid won straight, shutting out both the others in the second heat, making the last mile in 2:32¼, the fastest time ever made in Montana.

Fifth race, trotting, 2:28 class, $500, mile heats, best three in five. Entries—Alta, George Mosher, San Diego and Melrose. Alta won the first two heats, George Mosher third. The remainder of the race was postponed till to-morrow. Time 2:29¼, 2:26¾.

The Montana Republican Convention.

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 23.—The republican state convention to-day nominated the following ticket: R. O. Hickman, state treasurer; Louis Rotwitt, secretary of state; E. A. Kenney, state auditor; Henry J. Haskell, attorney general; John Gannon, superintendent of public instruction; Henry N. Blake, chief justice; E. N. Harwood and W. H. DeWitt, associate justices; W. J. Kennedy, clerk of the supreme court; A. J. Seligman, chairman of the state central committee.

[illegible] adjourned at 2 P. M., after adopting a platform.

Seattle News Items.

SEATTLE, Aug. 23.—The electric street lamps were lighted to-night for the first time since the fire.

The cable railway to Lake Washington will resume operation Sunday morning.

A Chinese contractor from Portland was in Seattle to-day making arrangements to ship carloads of coolies to the hop fields. It is doubtful if the white people will permit Chinese laborers to be employed.

An Exciting Runaway.

OLYMPIA, W. T., Aug. 23.—This morning a horse came running through the streets with a rope around his neck, a rail about six feet long being attached to the end of the rope. The horse made several circles on the street and sidewalks. At last he saw the open door of a dry goods store and ran towards it and was caught at the entrance. Fortunately, no one was hurt, although several narrowly escaped the bounding rail.

An Overdose of Morphine.

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 23.—Grover Holmes, a well known comedian, who for the past eight years has played on the legitimate and variety stage on the coast, died here this afternoon from an overdose of morphine, taken while suffering from delirium tremens. Holmes was a nephew of Leonard Grover, the dramatist.

Drowned Herself in a Ditch.

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 23.—Mrs. C. E. Kemp disappeared late last night. Her body was found in a ditch early this morning. It is supposed she committed suicide. She has been out of her mind for some time, and shot her daughter about a year ago when in a fit of frenzy.

A Young Girl Suicides.

YAKIMA, Aug. 23.—Alma Engdale, aged 16 years, said to be a beautiful girl, suicided on Sunday last by throwing herself into the Natches river. Her body was found a few hours after, but the news has just been conveyed to town. It is thought she was out of her mind.

DeWitt Talmage at Salem.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 23.—Dr. Talmage filled the opera house here to-night with an audience that in numbers and social status has never been equaled in the city.

A Favorable Report on the Subject of a Pacific Cable.

A WILY CONTRACTOR'S SCHEME

The Neagle Case—A Railroad Projected—A Just Decision—Cantaloupes at a Discount—Personal and General

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The committee appointed recently by the local Chamber of Commerce to investigate the feasibility of laying an ocean telegraph cable from this port to Australia has reported in favor of the project, and estimate the cost of the cable line from San Francisco to New Zealand by the way of Honolulu and Fiji island at $10,000,000.

It is urged that the line would be a paying investment, as it would secure the whole of the Hawaiian business, all of the business of [illegible] islands centering at the Samoan group and all of the United States business of the Australian colonies and New Zealand, together with a large percentage of the colonial business with the United Kingdom and Europe.

The cost of cabling from Sydney to London, it is estimated, would be reduced to 87 cents per word.

It is suggested that the United States government grant a subsidy for the purpose to the extent of guaranteeing 3 per cent per annum on an investment of $10,000,000 bonds to be issued by a company incorporated under the laws of the United States.

A CONTRACTOR'S SCHEME.

The Government Furnished With "Oregon Pine" From British Columbia.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—William Walker, a lumber dealer of Vallejo, some time ago received a contract to deliver several kinds of lumber to the Mare Island navy yard. Among other items was one for about 80,000 feet of deck plank to be of the best quality of fine grained Oregon pine. It is said that he was unable to obtain such lumber in Oregon and Washington territory as would pass inspection for the price at which he had agreed to deliver it to the government, and rather than pay the sum demanded by the mills in Oregon and Washington territory, it is understood that he went to British Columbia and got the contract filled.

The schooner Beulah arrived last Wednesday from Burrard inlet with a cargo of lumber, part of which is to fill the contract with the United States government. If such is the case, it appears to be a violation of the terms of the contract, which stipulates for Oregon pine, while Walker is intent upon substituting for it a British Columbian product.

DEPUTY MARSHAL NEAGLE'S CASE.

Sheriff Cunningham Asks That He Be Remanded to His Custody.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Sheriff Cunningham, of San Joaquin county, entered a demurrer in the United States court this afternoon, in which he took exceptions to the traverse made by Deputy Marshal Neagle in his petition for a habeas corpus. The sheriff asks that Neagle be returned to his custody to be tried according to the laws of the state of California for the killing of Judge Terry.

THE CHARGE AGAINST JUSTICE FIELD.

STOCKTON, Aug. 23.—It is expected that the district attorney will to-morrow, dismiss the charge against Justice Field when Neagle's case is called.

MRS. TERRY'S INTENTIONS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Sarah Althea Terry arrived this evening from Stockton. She held a consultation with her attorneys regarding the legal complications growing out of the killing of Judge Terry. No conclusions were reached, however, and the consultation will be continued to-morrow. It is Mrs. Terry's intention to remain here indefinitely. Ex-Judge Maguire stated that he was satisfied Mrs. Terry had only a desire to get redress through the courts. She had no idea of attempting to offer violence to any of the people on the other side. He did not believe she would be in attendance at the hearing in the United States circuit court next Tuesday.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Grant's Pass and Crescent City, Cal., Desire To Be Connected.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Superior Judge James Murphy, of Del Norte county, chairman of the committee to consult with the Southern Pacific railroad officials in regard to a railroad from Grant's Pass, Or., to Crescent City, a distance of eighty-seven miles, is in the city.

"We have lately held public meetings at Crescent City," said Judge Murphy, "and the citizens of Grant's Pass have done the same. We are very anxious to get the road and would be willing to give some sort of a subsidy in its aid. A railroad is the one thing we need. There are from 600 to 4000 people in Del Norte county alone. The course of the road would be southwest from Grant's Pass, Oregon, through the Rogue River and Illinois valleys, a distance of forty-five miles, to the top of the Coast range. The pass is about 2000 feet high, and only a small tunnel would be needed there. The rest of the road, down Smith river, presents no obstacles of consequence.

"At present there are but two short pieces of lumbering railroad in the country, one owned by A. M. Simpson, and only three or four miles long, and the other by Hobbs, Wall & Co., both firms belonging to this city.

"Villard's surveyors were in there two or three years, but since the Oregon & California road was bought by the Southern Pacific, we do not expect Villard to come to us. Our hope is with Senator Stanford and the Southern Pacific."

A MOST JUST DECISION.

A Woman Born in Slavery Is Declared to Be Her Father's Heir.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Judge Levy decided to-day that Caroline Jackson, daughter of Anthony Waddy, deceased, is entitled to $12,000 left by him. Waddy was a slave, and the daughter, who is now over 60 years old, was born before he was freed. Her right to Waddy's estate was contested by Lavinia Phillips, sister of Waddy, who claimed that, being a slave, Waddy could not marry, and that his offspring was therefore illegitimate.

Judge Levy, in deciding for Caroline, said: "If, at the time of emancipation, Waddy and Rachel had lived together in slave marriage, there is no question that the marriage would have been as valid and binding as if originally contracted by white persons. And if emancipation worked such effect on the status of parents, there is no good reason for holding that it operated differently on the offspring, even if the civil rights of the parents were dormant during slavery, but attached on emancipation, the dormant rights of the child to be a human being instead of a chattel—to have a father and mother instead of a master—all these rights which are inherent to freeborn persons quickened and attached to it as if it had been born without the misfortunes of slavery. And this result must follow even if the parents refused to continue their marital relations after emancipation. They might, if they pleased, waive the advantages of that great charter, but only for themselves, not for their offspring. They might refuse the quickening draught of freedom as it affected them, but their refusal would not bar their child from obtaining the benefits which it bestowed on the colored race."

NO DEMAND FOR CANTALOUPES.

Consequently the Prisoners at San Quentin Enjoy a Treat.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Yesterday about 1000 crates of cantaloupes were landed at the wharf. Commission merchants tried hard to get 50 cents for them from dealers, as at that figure there is a slight profit. It was impossible, however, to secure that figure, and nearly all that were sold were at 25 cents per crate. About 500 crates were sold.

Two hundred and sixty-three crates were placed on a steamer for San Quentin and sent as a present to the convicts in the state penitentiary, where they cannot fail to be a welcome addition to the "bean table." The contents of the remaining 600 crates were thrown into the bay.

CALIFORNIA NEWS ITEMS.

Personal and General.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Milton A. Sharp, the daring stage robber who escaped from the Nevada penitentiary about a week ago, is believed to be hiding in this city.

Police Judge Lawler called up W. W. Knott, Jacob C. Green and Nellie Degarcia yesterday afternoon for sentence on the charge against them of conspiracy to blackmail Mrs. D. E. Howe, a medium. Knott and Green were each sentenced to a year's imprisonment in the county jail and to pay fines of $500 each with the alternative of 500 days' additional imprisonment, and Nellie Degarcia was sentenced to a year's imprisonment without fine. Appeal bonds were fixed at $2000, which Knott and Nellie Degarcia furnished. Green went to jail.

A son of Rev. Dr. Talmage, the eminent Brooklyn divine, arrived in this city yesterday. He said his father would not visit this city, owing to the great number of his engagements and lack of time. The junior Mr. Talmage will join his father in Salt Lake in a few days.

William A. Newell, of Hillsboro, Or., has been appointed railway mail clerk on the line between Spokane Falls and Portland, vice A. S. Rand, transferred to the line between Portland and San Francisco.

Eloped With a Drummer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Miss Cora Lenhart, from Santa Cruz, a young girl just passed 18, eloped Tuesday with F. L. Rea, a drummer claiming to be with a manufacturing company of Rome, N. Y. She telegraphed her parents after reaching this city that she was married Tuesday. Her parents are among the most highly respected citizens of Santa Cruz. The young couple left Thursday for the north by the Oregon express.

An Unknown Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—An unknown man jumped from the deck of the Oakland ferryboat this afternoon while crossing the bay, and was drowned. The steamer was stopped and boats were lowered but the body could not be found.

Motion for a New Trial in a Land Case.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 23.—A motion for a new trial is being prepared in the condemnation suit of the San Diego Land and Town Company vs. George Neale, whereby the company was ordered to pay Neale $16,000, and a motion of a stay of execution is now being argued before Judge Aitken. The company has notified the court that they will commence running off water from the Sweetwater dam to-morrow, so as to clear defendant's land, as the actions to that effect have been received [illegible] the Little [illegible] Postal [illegible] five million gallons will be run into the bay.

The Blythe Will Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—[illegible] Blythe will [illegible] to-day a deposition of James Terry, friend of [illegible] of Florence, was read to the effect that he never had in his possession the adoption papers of Florence Blythe. One of the most important rulings yet made in the case by Judge Coffey was when he granted the motion striking from the record all of Attorney Hart's [illegible] first [illegible] draft of the adoption [illegible] [illegible] The case was continued until Monday.

William T. Higgins Laid to Rest.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The funeral services of the late William T. Higgins, the noted politician, who died from heart disease last Wednesday, took place from St. Mary's cathedral this morning. [illegible] [illegible] funeral.

Two Justifiable Homicides.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The coroner's jury in the case of Henry Frank, slain last Saturday night by Peter Donnelly, returned a verdict that Donnelly acted in self-defense.

In the case of John Mace, who was killed on Sunday, the jury exonerated John Kenney on the ground of justifiable homicide.

A Residence Burned.

NAPA CITY, Aug. 23.—The residence on the Eighmier ranch, now owned by Donohue & Bank of San Francisco, was burned to the ground to-day. Loss about $5000, with an insurance of $3000. It is supposed the fire was started by a tramp who was refused a meal at the house.

A New Steamship Line.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The steamer Point Arena, [illegible] tons burden, has been purchased by [illegible] to be [illegible] for a new steamship company, [illegible] will run [illegible] vessels between Seattle, Tacoma and [illegible] of [illegible].

A Natural Gas Well Struck.

SONOMA, Aug. 23.—A well of natural illuminating gas has been struck on Captain Hayes's farm near here.

POLITICS IN THE NORTHWEST.

How They are Viewed by Democratic Leaders at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The feeling in regard to the result of the elections in the new states this fall has changed decidedly among democrats. A short time ago political guidance on the democratic side were loud in their predictions that at least one and possibly three of the congressmen to be elected in the new states would be democratic. Two or three of the democratic members of the house have traveled through the territories of Montana and Dakota during the present summer and have talked very freely upon their return East.

This visit has succeeded in convincing these and some of their colleagues that there was some hope for the democratic party in the Northwest. Even Sunset Cox saw bright prospects while in the Yellowstone region. The magnificent scenery raised his spirits and caused him to believe that his party might win a seat or two as the result of the elections to be held in October, but within the last few weeks news have been of an entirely different nature.

Several democratic senators have looked the situation over carefully from this point and their conclusions are that there is very little chance—in fact, none at all—for carrying any one of the five new congressional districts.

Senator Pugh, of Alabama, who is a careful observer, states as his positive opinion that there is not the faintest hope for the democrats either in Washington or Montana, and he adds that the [illegible] districts will be as surely republican in October as Kansas was last fall.

FROM NORTH YAKIMA.

A Telephone Plant to Be Erected—Fine Specimens of Ruby Silver.

NORTH YAKIMA, W. T., Aug. 23.—Mr. John Law, manager of the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company, has been here for a day or two making his arrangements to put in a telephone plant here. He has met with the universal support of the citizens in the project, and has completed his survey. The poles have been ordered and the system will be in operation in a very short time.

The old pioneer and veteran prospector, W. Z. York, returned to-day from an extended trip in the Tieton basin and Natchez pass, bringing with him some of the finest specimens of ruby silver ore ever exhibited here. These specimens were placed with some of the same class from Colorado, and it was impossible to distinguish one from the other. This find has created a greater excitement than any of the numerous rich discoveries made in this seemingly inexhaustible storehouse of mineral wealth.

Mr. Charles S. Fee, general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, made his first visit here yesterday, and after driving over the country immediately adjacent to the city, expressed great surprise that the country contained so much of natural beauty and fertility.

COLFAX NEWS ITEMS.

An Unreasonable Complaint—Cheap Fuel in the Future.

COLFAX, W. T., Aug. 23.—Great complaint is being made by parties having business with the United States land office at Spokane Falls. Proofs and filings sent there are not heard of for weeks, and scores of settlers are suffering great inconvenience through their inability to get returns promptly. As our local papers are too indifferent or too timid to make complaint, our only resource is to apply to THE OREGONIAN to make the matter public. [It ought to be remembered that the land office at Spokane Falls was burned out in the great fire.—OREGONIAN.]

The city council has ordered that the horses belonging to the steam fire engine be kept constantly in harness during the dry season. The business men have also organized an efficient patrol to co-operate with the police in guarding the streets and alleys night and day.

The city will be supplied with cheap fuel hereafter, the O. R. & N. Co. having agreed to furnish coal at $8 per ton. Heretofore the price has been $12 per ton.

FROM ALBANY.

Two Men Injured by Falls—Street Cars to Run Monday.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 23.—Frank Kitchen, a workman in the woolen mills, fell from the third story this morning, a distance of twenty feet, upon the joists below, escaping with slight injuries.

George Mills fell from the new school building at Tangent yesterday, striking upon his head, producing concussion of the brain and breaking his collar bone. He will recover.

The street cars will commence running Monday. The cars were manufactured in Albany and are equal in style and finish to those bought in the East, a fact in which the street railway company takes considerable pride.

Politics at Guthrie, I. T.

GUTHRIE, I. T., Aug. 23.—The first work of the convention to-day was the selection of a delegation to Washington, composed of Horace Speed, of Indiana; L. J. Love, of Texas; Robert Martin, of Ohio; D. M. Ross, of Arkansas, and F. L. Green, of Montana. Woman suffrage again came up and after an acrimonious debate, in which two members nearly came to blows, it was decided to submit the question to the people as a separate proposition.

The legislature is to be elected October 22 and at the same time territorial and county officers will be chosen.

The Alleged New Tanning System.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The report of an alleged discovery by a professor in the state university of California of a new system of tanning leather, which will have the effect of rendering it impervious to water and at the same time very pliable, is met with a small degree of credulity on the part of leather men in this city. The assertion made that the new system will revolutionize the leather trade and that boots and shoes manufactured from leather thus prepared will last five times as long as foot gear now in use is declared by leading dealers to be a manifest absurdity.

The Contract for Steel Oil Tanks.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 23.—The contract for the construction of seventy-five steel oil tanks to be used for the transportation of oil between here and the Pacific coast calls for the delivery of cars at San Diego, Cal., by the first of next January. They will be delivered as fast as finished, and at once put into the transportation business.

The Bloody Work of an Epileptic.

GHENT, Aug. 23.—An epileptic in the hospital for incurables in this city to-day made an attack with a razor upon the other patients in the institution, who were in bed at the time. He badly gashed the throats of twenty-four of them, killing three.

A Shortage of $36,000.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 23.—A special to the Journal from St. Joseph says the committee investigating the accounts of ex-Collector Trice, of this county, reports them short $36,000. Trice claims credits of $4,000 which the committee would not allow.

A Texas Desperado Hanged for the Murder of a Sheriff.

THE TRANSPACIFIC MAIL SERVICE

President Harrison En Route to Deer Park—Senator Manderson and His Re-Rated Pension—Indian Affairs.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 23.—[illegible] the noted desperado, was hanged [illegible] the crime for which he suffered was the killing of Sheriff McKinney.

Jim McCoy has been one of the most notorious desperadoes of Southwest Texas during the last fifteen years. Nobody [illegible] knows how many men he has murdered. He has several times committed [illegible] lost his right leg from a wound received in a [illegible] fight in Cotulla. He was one of the most daring and heartless members of the [illegible] gang, a combination of the worst outlaws that ever infested that part of Texas. They terrorized that section for years, until Captain Charles McKinney inaugurated a war of extermination against them. Fearing McKinney they decoyed him the day after Christmas to [illegible] station, a few miles from Cotulla, the county seat, where they had plotted to murder him, saying that a crime had been committed there and the sheriff's presence was needed.

McKinney, accompanied by a deputy named Edwards, boarded a train at Cotulla and on arrival at [illegible] was met by one Crenshaw and McCoy, who proffered to them the use of their horses to ride to the house where the alleged crime had been committed. McKinney mounted a horse, and while inquiring the direction, Crenshaw passed the muzzle of a Winchester under his chin and fired, the ball penetrating the victim's head. The sheriff fell to the ground dead.

Meanwhile McCoy, standing close to Edwards, fired at him, wounding the deputy in the shoulder. Edwards's horse, however, frightened by the shooting, dashed off, otherwise its rider would undoubtedly have shared the fate of his superior.

Crenshaw and McCoy made their escape, the former being killed by the state rangers shortly afterwards while resisting arrest. McCoy kept around in the brush a few weeks, and becoming sick, gave himself up.

TRANSPACIFIC MAIL SERVICE.

The Contract Between the Dominion and the Canadian Pacific.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—The contract with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for Pacific mail service provides that the service between Halifax in winter and Quebec in summer shall be one continuous and complete service. At intervals of four weeks vessels are to call at Yokohama and Shanghai and the period of transit between Halifax and Hong Kong will be [illegible] hours and between Quebec and Hong Kong 684 hours. The run between Quebec and Hong Kong will thus occupy twenty-eight and a half days and between Liverpool and Hong Kong about thirty-six days.

Penalties are provided for failure and the contract is to run for ten years. The special subsidy is $[illegible] per year and the Dominion subsidy $[illegible].

Admiralty clauses provide that, among other things the company will undertake to construct all vessels [illegible] [illegible] with gun platforms and other fittings required by the admiralty and to sell them to the admiralty if required. The company undertakes to employ, as far as possible, the members of the royal navy reserve.

The train arrived at Cincinnati at 6:20 and a private car was attached to the regular B. & O. Eastern express, which left Cincinnati at 7:45, fifteen minutes late, and arrives at Deer Park at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning.

President Harrison looks bright and cheerful to-night, and does not seem to have suffered from the fatigue of his western trip.

WANTS AN EXAMINATION.

Senator Manderson Writes a Letter to Commissioner Tanner.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 23.—Senator Manderson has forwarded to Washington to Commissioner Tanner a letter in which he demands an examination by medical experts to determine whether he is entitled to the re-rated pension recently granted him. The letter is quite lengthy. In the course of it he says the commissioners will bear him out in the statement that his pension was wholly without his seeking, and granted without his knowledge, although he would have had a perfect right to apply for it under the laws.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Case of Indian Murderers on the Colville Reservation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The Indian bureau has received, through Indian Agent Cole, at Colville, W. T., agency, a reply from Special Agent Welton to the letter of inquiry relative to the arrest of certain Indian murderers on the Colville reservation.

The special agent in his letter to the agent, says that after learning that only territorial courts have jurisdiction in such cases, he made complaint to District Attorney Jones, who refused to prosecute, on the grounds that he did not think, if arrested and held to appear, any grand jury could be found that would report a true bill against one Indian for killing another, as such an act was not particularly objectionable or unpopular with the white people of Stevens or adjacent counties. Hence it would be incurring much legal expense without any beneficial results. In fact, he (Jones) could not see that it was a matter of any concern to tax-paying citizens, so long as white persons were not killed.

The Indian bureau officials will take action as may be necessary to enforce the laws for the protection of Indians within the jurisdiction of the Colville agency.

The Troubles at the Flathead Agency.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Acting Indian Commissioner Belt has received a telegram from Agent Ronan, at the Flathead Indian agency, in Montana, in which he says that the trouble with the Flatheads at Demersville, which is 100 miles from the agency and off the reservation, was undoubtedly caused by whisky. The Indians, he says, buy from the people at the head of Flathead lake all the liquor they can pay for, and drunkenness is very frequent among them. One Indian has been killed. The agent is making investigation.

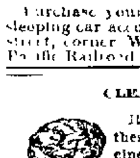
CLEAR YOUR FACE.



It has been heretofore shown in these columns that modern medicine has demonstrated that a pimply skin is not the result of blood disease but is caused by impaired digestion, for which they now give vegetable correctives instead of potash and mineral blood purifiers. Two short testimonials are here given to contrast the action of the potash sarsaparillas and Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. C. D. Stuart of 1221 Mission street, S. F., writes that she took one of the leading sarsaparillas for indigestion and dyspepsia. Its only effect was to cause pimples to appear on her face. Upon taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla the first effect was the disappearance of the pimples and she was subsequently relieved of her indigestion and dyspepsia. Robert Stewart also writes from Petaluma, Cal., that being troubled with boils he found that one of the leading sarsaparillas actually increased the eruptions, which responded at once to Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and disappeared almost immediately.

WORK OF JACK KETCH.

A Quartette of Murderers Executed at the Tombs Prison.

TWO OF THE WRETCHES STRANGLED

The Victims in Each Case Were Women—A Full Account of the Scenes at the Execution

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—The four [illegible] of women: Patrick Packenham, [illegible] Lewis (colored), James Nolan and [illegible] Carrolin were hanged in the yard of the Tombs prison this morning.

There were two scaffolds and two men were hanged on each. Packenham and Nolan were first executed on the scaffold which was erected on the Franklin street side of the prison. The drop fell at [illegible] o'clock. Eight minutes later Lewis and Carrolin were hanging from the scaffold on the Leonard street side.

Sheriff Flack and Under Sheriff [illegible] entered the prison at 6 [illegible] followed by twenty deputy sheriffs [illegible] and wearing silk hats. Each of them [illegible] his badge of office and carried a staff. They marched into the corridor [illegible] taking their places at Leonard street [illegible] the other at the Franklin wall [illegible] jury of twelve men and all the reporters [illegible] representatives entered the prison [illegible] two minutes later the second set of [illegible] filed in and marched to their place.

The first [illegible] of the condemned were [illegible] Nolan and [illegible] the [illegible] the jail corridor [illegible] three [illegible] men were [illegible] over the [illegible] face was [illegible] firm and he looked [illegible] the faces around him. Nolan [illegible] appeared to [illegible]. There was a [illegible] his countenance. After the [illegible] taken their place on the scaffold [illegible] grasped the hands of the priest, wringing them fervently. Then Hangman Atkinson tied the white cord about the legs of Nolan just above the ankles. His assistant did like service for Packenham. In a twinkling the black caps were adjusted and at a signal from Atkinson the bodies of both were jerked into the air. At 7:10 Nolan and Packenham were pronounced dead, but their bodies were permitted to hang for fifteen minutes longer.

While this scene was being enacted, preparations were being made for what proved to be the most shocking spectacle that had ever taken place within the walls of the Tombs prison.

A HORRIBLE SCENE.

Carrolin's Blasphemy—The Poor Wretch Slowly Strangled to Death

The hanging of Carrolin and Lewis in several respects is probably unparalleled.

A gaunt sallow faced man had come around from where Packenham and Nolan were dangling and made a brief inspection of the instrument of death. Then he disappeared and a minute later Hangman Atkinson, immediately after finishing his first job, came around back of the prison and stood behind the box.

Now Carrolin and Lewis with the priests came through the door. Lewis, the negro, walked unsteadily for the first [illegible] but quickly recovered himself. He was smiling and as he caught sight of a deputy who has been especially kind to him he walked over and seized his hands. Then he shook hands with two more. Father Gelinas gently urged him toward the rope that was to strangle him. He smiled and looked fearlessly around him.

Carrolin had a butt of a cigar between his lips, and was puffing vigorously, blowing great clouds of smoke into the faces of the priests. His face was as pale as the face of the dead and a scowl upon it was almost demoniacal. He glared at the priests as he turned around and felt the rope touch his shoulder. Spitting the cigar stub from his mouth he broke into blasphemy that horrified the spectators. Atkinson had just pinioned his legs when he spoke. Looking sullenly at the three priests he suddenly exclaimed: "I die an innocent man. [illegible] damn it, I didn't do this thing."

Lewis, who had then been pinioned, half turned his head and, addressing his companion, said: "What's the matter with you anyway? Why don't you [illegible]"

"I will die [illegible]," shrieked Carrolin, his face turning perfectly livid. "I will die [illegible] an innocent man."

The words were scarcely out of his mouth before Atkinson had clapped the black cap over the murderer's face. The assistant hangman covered Lewis's face at the same moment. Atkinson gave the signal and the weight fell.

Instead of bounding up as Packenham and Nolan had done, the miserable wretch went into the air with so little force that there was scarcely any rebound at all. Lewis immediately began to struggle in a most sickening manner. He threw his legs about so violently as to kick off his slippers. Then he began to gurgle and choke, the rasping wheezy sound coming from under the horrible cap for fully ten seconds. His body turned and swayed, and his struggles were so painful that half a dozen men turned away their heads. The poor wretch was slowly strangled.

Carrolin's body was violently convulsed also, but he uttered no sound.

The weight fell at 7:0[illegible] o'clock and at 7:1[illegible] both men were dead. The four bodies hung for half an hour and were then cut down and placed in plain coffins.

THEY WERE ALL DRINKING MEN

Carrolin Believed To Be Insane—Other Murderers in the Tombs

By many persons Carrolin, who was the [illegible] man, was not believed to be of sound mind, although experts at his trial declared him sane. There seemed to be a screw loose somewhere and every prison keeper or deputy sheriff who has ever had to watch him said so. He murdered a woman who lived as his wife in a small back room in a [illegible] ton street tenement. He butchered her with a hatchet. The scene grew out of a drunken quarrel.

Lewis and Nolan, like Carrolin, had each murdered his mistress. Like Carrolin also both were hard drinkers.

Packenham's victim was his wife. He too was a drinking man.

The Tombs prison at present contains two other men, Cilln[illegible] and Carlton, under sentence of death, and fifteen men and one woman waiting trial for homicide.

TESTING THE CRUISER

The Charleston Starts Out on Her Second Trial Trip.

THE CONDITIONS FAVORABLE

Her Engines Were Working Satisfactorily—Every Prospect of a Successful Trial—The Vessel Sighted at Santa Barbara.

CAMBRIA, Cal., Aug [illegible].—The United States cruiser Charleston left her moorings in San Francisco bay Wednesday morning and steamed [illegible] on her [illegible] trial trip. Captain Charles [illegible] was in command.

The officers who were detailed by the government to conduct the trial [illegible] Commodore A. [illegible] Benham [illegible] representatives of the Union Iron Works, including Irving M. Scott [illegible] Chief Engineer [illegible] and Wm. P. [illegible] expert [illegible].

With the exception of the necessary [illegible] which [illegible] in her [illegible] she was practically [illegible] on [illegible] May [illegible]

After having [illegible] Charleston [illegible] miles steaming [illegible] fourteen knots [illegible].

About 10 [illegible] M [illegible] the [illegible] hour [illegible] the first hour were 13[illegible] the first hour [illegible] eighteen [illegible] ten minutes after the first hour [illegible] run the overflowing of the [illegible] draulic room with steam and it was [illegible] prudent to stop.

The repairs were completed in a few minutes and at 1:30 P. M. the four hours' trial was made. This time the Charleston exceeded all previous efforts, making a speed of over nineteen knots an hour and, according to approximate developments, more than the required horse power, although after a splendid run of nearly two and a half hours the eccentric of the air pump of the forward engine slipped, making it necessary to stop the engine and causing another interruption of the official trial.

The Charleston was [illegible] north of Monterey when the second trial commenced. The average revolutions during the afternoon run were 10[illegible] 3-10. During this time the patent log recorded a speed of eighteen and three-quarters knots per hour. Log shore bearings were taken and these showed that the Charleston was making an average speed of nineteen and three-tenths knots per hour.

The engines worked to the entire satisfaction of all. There was no indication of the heating of the engine slides which caused the first trial trip to be a failure.

At the close of the first two hours' run representatives of the Union Iron works expressed the strongest belief that the Charleston's trip would be a success.

THE CHARLESTON PASSES SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, Aug 23.—The Charleston passed Santa Barbara at 6 [illegible] tonight, supposed to be on her trial trip.

THOSE SCHOOL LANDS.

The constitution of the state of Washington makes no new departure on the subject of school lands, though the press and people of Washington had very generally expressed a desire that, instead of being put on the market and sold these lands should be held by the state in perpetuity and only disposed of by lease, the rental to afford an income for the support of the common school system for all time. So generally was this sentiment expressed that a common understanding seemed apparent and the feeling was so universal as to justify the belief that some such provision would be embodied in the organic law of the state. By the constitution these lands are to be gradually sold, and, so far as mere words go, there is a pretense of protecting this very important interest. No doubt these provisions are well timed and judicious, but the mere fact that the lands are to be sold makes it possible for those who have the inside of matters to scheme for their own interests and secure the cream of these lands for their own selfish purposes. It was a difficult thing to determine if these lands should be held by the state, to be leased on long terms, or sold to the highest bidder. The example of Oregon was in full view and the fact was apparent that the school lands of our state have not nearly realized what they would have brought had they been managed with common business judgment as a private individual would ordinarily have managed similar interests.

There would, of course, be a great deal of trouble to make the lease system work with safety, as it would be necessary to secure good tenants, whose farming methods would not prejudice the quality of the land rented. If such tenants did not possess more skill than the ordinary farmer of our region, the result would be that the state lands would soon deteriorate. If good farming could be made a sine qua non of the lease then the lease system would be advisable. As it is possibly leasing state lands was not a reasonable recourse.

The constitution of Washington leaves the school lands with all the protection its members thought necessary and advisable, and now comes the administering of the law and disposition of the lands. If those who shall have them in charge shall faithfully and honorably discharge their trust as the years pass by they can profit by the experience of other states to make these lands realize all they are worth for the school fund, and so build up for all time an income that shall be competent for the maintenance of common schools.

It is no excuse for bad management that it was not fraud committed on purpose. The state is entitled to competent service and the custodians of the school fund and of state school lands or any land intended for educational purposes, should manage it sacredly, as a trust of the greatest value, that will last for all time. Men of ability and integrity, financial skill and unapproachable honor only should be made such custodians, and at the outset this question of common schools and the lands to maintain them should receive the most careful attention and command the first place in the minds of the people.

THE SOUL OF ELOQUENCE.

Terry's death recalls Baker's famous oration at the funeral of Broderick. In that oration there was a powerful passage in denunciation of the practice of dueling. This passage has been universally admired. We reproduce it here:

> One year ago I performed a duty such as I perform to-day over the remains of Senator Fergusson, who died as Broderick died, tangled in the meshes of the code of honor. To-day there is a more eminent sacrifice. To-day I renew my protest; to-day I utter yours. The code of honor is a delusion and a snare. It palters with the hope of true courage and binds it to the feet of crafty and cruel skill. It surrounds its victim with the pomp and grace of the procession, but leaves him bleeding on the altar. It is a shield blazoned with the name of chivalry to cover the malignity of murder. It substitutes cold and deliberate preparation for courageous and manly impulse and arms the one to disarm the other. It may prevent fraud between practiced duelists, who should be forever without its pale, but it makes the mere "trick of the weapon" superior to the noblest cause and truest courage. Its pretense of equality is a lie. It is equal in all the form, it is unjust in all the substance—the habitude of arms, the early training, the frontier life, the border war, the sectional custom, the life of leisure, all these are advantages which no negotiation can neutralize, and which no courage can overcome.

No man was braver than Baker, but Baker never could be entrapped into a duel. He had many faults of character, but his devotion to freedom more than atoned for them. His powers of speech were amazing, and his courage well befitted those great powers. He was one of whom it could truly be said:

He did not wait till freedom had become
The easy shibboleth of the courtier's lips,
But smote for her when God himself seemed dumb
And all his arching skies were in eclipse.

Had Baker been buried in Oregon a suitable monument would have been erected to his name and fame.

JEFF'S FINAL FAILURE.

Jefferson Davis has been doomed to another and a bitter disappointment by his unappreciative countrymen. The publication of his book "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government" has proved a flat failure. The greater part of the large edition which he caused to be printed is upon the shelves of the Appletons, representing as expensive a lot of waste paper as has been printed and bound for many a year. The book was printed at great expense by D. Appleton & Co. and put upon the market in excellent shape, but though time has softened the asperities of the conflict of which it treats, it has not tempered the spirit of the loyal North into a meekness that demands a rehearsal of the events of that time from the arch traitor's standpoint. Extracts from the work published in the newspapers of the North sufficed to show the bitter personal animosity that prompted the writing of the book and effectually forestalled its sale among the class of readers who made the works of Grant and Sheridan and Sherman and Logan a popular and financial success. The effort to get rid of the edition in the South found an effectual bar in the poverty and illiteracy of that section, and thus, greatly to the disappointment of the superannuated traitor, the bulk of the edition remains unsold.

The record of this failure is a new and gratifying test of the spirit in which the people of the North view, even from afar, the efforts made years ago by the class of men that Davis still represents to bring the country under the iron dominion of the slave power. There is no disposition to pursue the garrulous old man in his retreat with the reproaches that patriotism heaped upon him in the years of his vigorous and mischievous manhood, neither is there a disposition to give ear to the voice of his insults through the perusal of the intensely sectional utterances that, though [illegible] by history and despised by loyalty, seek an audience through his book. The [illegible] pathy that is due to an old man, who in brooding disappointment reviews the blunders and failures of a long life, is not the just portion of this unrepentant rebel, who mourns not his mistakes, but instead, his failure to overthrow a free government and establish upon its ruins one pledged to the perpetuation of human slavery. While his act of treason, which he has at intervals during all the years of his retirement labored to make conspicuous, might be accorded the charity of silence, it is too much to ask that it be given the endorsement that a large sale of his book in the North would furnish. This he has probably discovered, and while he drones and grumbles over his disappointment a loyal public extends what sympathy it has to spare on a subject which chafes but does not interest it, upon the publishers to whom the failure has worked financial loss.

THE DEPUTY MARSHAL'S ACT.

A large number of eminent Eastern lawyers, upon being interviewed by a representative of the New York Herald, have expressed the opinion that the killing of Terry was indefensible and unjustifiable, that Deputy Neagle exceeded his authority, and is guilty of murder. It is admitted that the government has the right to protect its judges, but in view of the importance of the case it is wise to examine into the law and to settle the question so that it may be relied upon as a precedent. Blackstone says:

> The defense of one's self or the mutual and reciprocal defense of such as stand in the relations of husband and wife, parent and child, master and servant. In these cases if the party himself or any of these his relations be forcibly attacked in his person or property, it is lawful for him to repel force by force, and the breach of the peace which happens is chargeable upon him only who began the affray. For the law in this case respects the passions of the human mind and (when external violence is offered to a man himself or to those to whom he bears a near connection) makes it lawful in him to do himself that immediate justice to which he is prompted by nature.

Holland, in his work on jurisprudence, says:

> Certain facts negative responsibility in criminal procedure, such as tender age, compulsion, idiocy, lunacy or drunkenness, and certain other facts may justify an act otherwise criminal, such as the consent of the party injured, self defense, lawful authority or the public welfare.

Had either Justice Field or Deputy Neagle killed Terry in defense of himself the justification of the act would not be questioned. Upon the authority of Blackstone and other law writers the principle of self defense is not confined strictly to the person assaulted or in danger, and though no tie of blood existed between Judge Field and Neagle, there was an important official relationship existing between them, created, it is true, by no act of the parties themselves, but by the only authority that had the power to extend official protection over a judicial officer in the exercise of his duty.

It is not disputed that the killing of Terry would have been justified if the assault upon Judge Field had occurred in open court. But as a matter of fact, while not in court when assaulted by Terry, Judge Field was in the discharge of his duties. He was going from court in Los Angeles to hold court in San Francisco. He was in active service, almost as much so as if sitting upon the bench.

The law regards this right of self defense jealously, and will not allow its use as a shield to wanton and promiscuous life taking. It only permits its exercise when the circumstances show life to be in danger. We apprehend then that the only question now left to be determined is whether or not Judge Field's life was in danger. These points will not be disputed, viz.: 1. The right of the government to protect its judges. 2. An official relationship between Judge Field and Neagle. 3. The right of self defense applies to parties between whom there is a relationship pertaining to public duties.

The only thing left in the case is the determination of the question of danger. In order to settle this, Terry's past career in general, his conduct in the Sharon case, his hatred of Judge Field, his notorious threats and the assault that brought on the killing are to be taken all together. And if these facts are not sufficient to convince any reasonable jury that the life of Judge Field was in danger, then common sense has come to be an unknown quantity in the American character.

An attempt was made on a large scale to encourage an opera distinctively American. It was given a trial for three years and failed, although unlimited means were at hand and some of our most influential citizens were at the head of the movement. The reason of this failure is apparent to all who have watched the brief career of "the American Opera Company." The only thing characteristically American about it was the name. Its repertoire was chosen from operas of the French, German and Italian schools and its artists were gathered as a rule from almost any country save America. The company ignored the English masterpieces, feebly rendered bad translations of worn-out creations, and because it in no sense fulfilled the promises held out at its birth, it deserved the failure that came. American opera is intended simply to encourage and develop the art of music, to encourage native talent and to assist in fostering a music that shall be as purely American as the music of the Italians or Germans is representative of the tastes of those peoples. If such purpose is to be carried out, then the projectors of American opera, in order to be successful, must encourage a native school of operatic composition and furthermore must have these productions of native composers interpreted by American singers and musicians, in the vernacular of this country.

It is the universal decision throughout Washington that THE OREGONIAN'S report of the proceedings of the constitutional convention at Olympia was unequaled for fullness and accuracy. It is not too much indeed to say that no similar report of equal value was ever published in the columns of THE OREGONIAN. It was the product of special experience and unsurpassed reportorial skill. The summary and comment were furnished by Major C. M. Barton; the report by Mr George L. Gower, a trained journalist of Rhode Island, who is living for a time in Washington and took this job of reporting merely to fill in the time while waiting for the consummation of certain matters of business. Mr Gower's facility and accuracy are very remarkable. He writes the substance of the proceedings and speeches, not a short hand report, and yet gives everything with sufficient fullness, [illegible] the proper proportions as to [illegible] and losing nothing of importance [illegible] the mistake of attempting [illegible]. Within a single day Mr Gower frequently wrote a report that filled from four to seven columns in nonpareil type, yet upon the adjournment always had his whole matter ready to file for transmission by telegraph. It is an extremely rare thing to find a journalist capable of work at once so rapid and accurate.

According to a calculation made by the statistical bureau of Berlin four fifths of the power machines in the world have been built within twenty five years. The United States possesses the highest amount of horse power, its quota being ranked at [illegible] 000. England follows with 7 000 000, Germany with 4 500,000, France with 3 000 000 and Austria Hungary with 1 500 000. These figures do not include locomotives, of which there are 105,000 at work with a horse power of 3 000 000. Thus the total horse power of these countries is 46 000 000. A steam horse power is equivalent to the strength of three horses, and each horse represents the strength of seven men. Thus the total horse power herein represented is equivalent to the strength of 1,000,000,000 men, more than twice the working population of the earth.

The details of the four executions that took place in New York yesterday are shocking in the extreme and will doubtless suffice to give a new impetus to the demand for the taking off of murderers by electricity or some other "easy" device. The murders for which these men were executed were of the most brutal character, the victims in both cases being women, one of whom was hacked to pieces with a hatchet. While all humane people must deplore a scene so horrible as that reported as having taken place within the walls of the Tombs prison yesterday, they cannot be less shocked at the deliberate and cowardly crimes which led to them, and even while turning in horror from the contemplation of such a scene they cannot ignore the necessity that insists upon maintaining the gallows as a safeguard of society.

Father Barry, in the Nineteenth Century, takes a hopeless view of the independent attitude assumed by large numbers of men of liberal culture toward the church, and in his opinion society must undergo a transformation or perish. He also fearlessly protests against those members of the clergy who fear to deal with questions of labor and capital and other kindred topics. He says:

> Religion, secluded the while in her cathedral stalls, may chant lovely anthems and wear copes of broidered gold. But where is the multitude that should throng nave and aisles? Outside, I say, brawling, drinking, tearing their bread from one another, working with despair in their hearts the while, as many hours of the day and night as they can toil and live.

In an age in which the thumb-screws of science are being pressed upon many of the pet idols of theology it is particularly unfortunate for the church that it is compelled to remain silent. To confess the truth is to weaken the church; to follow the beaten track is to call forth replying arguments of logic and reason that only place the blind polemical defendants of ecclesiasticism in an unenviable position.

Henry George said in a speech recently delivered in Philadelphia, that there was only one thing that always made him ashamed of that city, and that was protection. If Mr George has nothing more than this to cause the blush of shame to mantle his classic brow he will not need to worry. He has admitted that the laborers of this country are in a far more prosperous condition than those of any country in the world, and it does seem a little queer that the system which makes this prosperity possible should be a cause of shame. Such logic is peculiar, and it will require something more than mere words to make Americans in general share the opinions of Mr George.

North Yakima comes to the front as a candidate for the capital of the new state of Washington. The situation is central and accessible as any other point in the state, the surroundings are attractive, and the natural resources of the adjacent country are great. North Yakima is on the main line of the Northern Pacific and is reached from both the eastern and western sections of the state, and when the railway from the Columbia river is built it will be accessible from the southern part. North Yakima means to enter the race for the capital and her citizens think she has good chances of success.

During his visit to New England President Harrison made the following declaration in one of his speeches:

> In every way that I can, whether as a citizen or as a public officer, I shall endeavor to promote the rebuilding of our American merchant marine and the restoration of that great carrying trade which we once possessed in every sea.

That pledge, if followed by a strong recommendation to congress for subsidies, may promote the establishment of steamship lines between the Pacific coast, Australia and South America, and lines also between our Eastern seaports and foreign countries.

Two daughters of the late Dr Samuel Howe, Mrs Elliot and Mrs Hall, have undertaken to write a full account of the life and education of their father's deaf, dumb and blind pupil, Laura Bridgman. The means employed by this patient, skillful humanitarian to unlock the gates of silence and touch the springs of intelligence in this darkened human soul have long been of interest to the world, and it is safe to say that they will be followed with earnest attention when presented anew by his daughters.

The seventy five English ships of iron massed off Spithead in the recent naval display represented $150 000 000 in gold. This fact has been commented upon in connection with the fact that 2,000 people go to bed hungry in London every night. The relevance of the facts and figures quoted is not apparent. This may be "an age of iron," but if there was less iron it is doubtful if there would be any more beds for the trifeless.

The great mistake made by most labor organizations is that they seek to effect, for an entire class composed of differing qualities, results that can only be attained by the exercise of individual powers. Inferior talent can never receive the same permanent recognition as superior, and no labor organization can achieve for a workman as much as he can win for himself by a true and intelligent devotion to the best interests of his occupation.

A vote on the capital question in the state of Washington will be taken at the general election on the first Tuesday of October next. If no place receives a majority, the three places that received the highest number of votes are to contest again in the next general election, and if no place then receives a majority the two highest are again in the next general election to compete for the prize. Pending the decision the capital is to remain at Olympia.

The Mormons are not content with Utah. They dream of extending their faith and dominion. They have founded a colony in Canada, and their latest achievement is in attracting a large number of converts in West Virginia. Broken homes and agonized families mark the pathway of their operations. The republican party will attain the plaudits of posterity if it will set its heel upon the evil and stamp its blot from off the nation's history.

Republicans in Washington are proposing to put forward their strongest and best men for the legislature. H. W. Fairweather, of Sprague, is suggested as a candidate for senator for the district composed of Lincoln, Adams, Franklin and Okanogan counties. Mr Fairweather was a member of the constitutional convention, is very popular, and would easily be elected to the state senate if he would consent to be a candidate.

Seldom a man has the privilege of reading his own epitaph, but this exceptional experience was enjoyed by Fred Leslie, the actor, who a few days since was reported dead. Most men would be bitterly disappointed at the result. Here was an instance in which, however, if the subject had written the epitaphs himself he could scarcely have done better. Everyone had a good word for him.

Contractors on the new capital at Austin, Tex., pleaded guilty in the United States court a few days ago to the charge of importing skilled laborers from Europe to work on the building, and were fined $1000 and costs in each of sixty four cases. A few lessons of this kind will teach contractors that the law means what it says in forbidding such importation.

Mrs Maybrick accepts penal servitude for life as a substitute for death on the gallows. Misguided woman, to congratulate herself upon such an exchange of penalty as this a favor. In the first sentence there was a swift and ignominious death, in the second is a life of hopeless hardship and humiliation, servitude which may last for years, having in it every element that will chafe and wound and degrade the prisoner and at last death scarcely less ignominious than execution. It is a strange philosophy that will accept such an exchange of fate as this with a self congratulatory smile.

California too has met with her share of losses from forest fires. The damages sustained in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California in 1889, are probably greater than in any previous year since the settlement of the country. It is a source of great regret as much of this destruction of property might have been averted by the exercise of a little care.

In the new state of Washington there are a good many candidates for the United States senate, but there do not appear to be many for representative in the house. Mr John L. Wilson, of Spokane Falls, is however a candidate for this latter position. Should he be chosen he would make an industrious and useful representative.

Hon B. F. Dennison, of Vancouver, will be a candidate for superior judge in the state of Washington for the district comprising the counties of Clarke, Skamania, Cowlitz, Wahkiakum and Pacific. Judge Dennison's well known ability and long experience give him an acknowledged fitness for the position.

The most nonsensical effort of modern times is the attempt on the part of a class of absurd sentimentalists to secure from the pope the title of "Venerable" for Christopher Columbus, whose bones have long since crumbled to dust. No pope or potentate can add to the fame of Columbus.

The human nature of the individual is sometimes reflected in party politics. There was a man so inflated with peculiar pride that he preferred to swallow his false teeth rather than let others know he had to use them. The democratic party was in this uncomfortable predicament regarding Terry.

The dispatches sent out yesterday indicate that the second trial trip of the Charleston was a success. The cruiser developed over nineteen knots an hour, which is a higher rate of speed than the contract calls for. This is gratifying to the people of the coast and ought to satisfy the government.

North Dakota will be the first state that as a state has provided for a system of manual training. Forty thousand acres of public land are set aside by the constitution for that purpose. That state was fortunate in having no "tide lands" to occupy the attention of the convention.

The sentence of Mrs Maybrick has been commuted to penal servitude for life. The United States marshalship is still in doubt and candidates are still trembling in the presence of dreadful possibilities, hanging and breeze shaken, as it were, over the abyss of despair.

Representative Cox says the people of Washington are very intelligent and progressive, and Senator Pugh says the new state will certainly go republican. Messrs Cox and Pugh are both democrats and both have recently visited Washington.

Six members of the grand jury that sat upon the Sullivan and Kilrain investigation were witnesses of the fight and gave it encouragement. It is however thought that for their services as grand jurors they will be relieved from further penalties.

He supplies friends and hospitals with these beautiful flowers and estimates that he has given away millions of them, though he has never sold one. Mr Stone was the first man to successfully grow large hemp? not roses out of doors.

Oliver Optic thinks that if he had half a dozen wide awake American boys to amuse he could do it better in Constantinople than in London or Paris. Admission, 50c.

Trains will leave Jefferson-street depot at 2 P. M., returning immediately after the races.
Boat and music leave the foot of Washington street at 1:45 o'clock P. M., sharp.

TO BE GIVEN AWAY.

A handsome five-room cottage, with basement, worth $2300. The nicest little home in Oregon. Built by days' work. We have refused $25 a month rent for this beautiful house and have finally concluded that we will give it away to one of the purchasers of one of our large lots in the Third Electric addition to East Portland. Twenty of these lots are 124 feet front by 145 feet deep, and sixty of them are 50 feet front by 227½ feet deep. These lots are all being nicely cleared, the title to them is perfect, and the price is the lowest of any lots now on the market, only $300 each, $100 cash, balance in monthly installments of $10 each without interest. They are nearly as large as four full sized city lots.

The cottage is given away to one of the lot owners. As there are only eighty lots to be sold each purchaser has one chance in eighty of securing the cottage. The purchaser of each lot will be given a ticket for the drawing of the cottage, which will take place at the rooms of the Real Estate Exchange on Tuesday, October 1, 1889, the managers of the drawing to be selected by the lot owners. A warranty deed for the cottage and lot (50 by 112 feet), free of all incumbrances, will be made by the Portland Real Estate Company to the one drawing the lucky number.

This is no lottery scheme. The lots we offer are better worth the money we ask for them than any lots on the market. They are near the Waverly Woodstock Electric Motor line, the contract for which is signed, and which is to be completed about December 15 of this year. The fare on this road is to be 5 cents to and from the city of Portland. The cottage is now completed, and is subject to your examination. If you will call at our office we will take you to see the lots and the cottage.

Non-residents wishing to purchase any of these lots can send draft payable to our order for $100, and we will select a lot for them. As the lots are all level, and about 150 feet higher than the floor of the Morrison street bridge, there is but little choice except between corners and inside lots. Sale of lots will commence on Monday, September 2, 1889.

UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S NOTICE—ADmiralty seizure. The Steamboat "Wasco," United States of America, District of Oregon, ss. Whereas libels have been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the twenty second day of August, 1889, by J. B. Condon and Kelly and Frazer, proctors on behalf of S. D. Fisher, H. Coates and J. W. Troup, as libellants, and J. F. Moody and John Marden, executors, as intervenors, in a cause of contract, civil and maritime, against the steamboat "Wasco," her tackle, apparel and furniture, and praying the usual process and monition of the court that all persons interested in said steamboat, her tackle, apparel and furniture, may be cited to appear and answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had, that the said steamboat may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof distributed according to law. Therefore, in pursuance of said monition under the seal of the said court, to me directed and delivered on the twenty-second day of August, A. D. 1889, I do hereby give notice generally unto all persons having, or pretending to have any right, title or interest in the said steamboat, called the "Wasco," her tackle, apparel and furniture, to appear before the said court, in the City of Portland, in said district, on the first Monday in September next (if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter) at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, then and there to answer the said libels, and to make known the allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland, in said district, this twenty-third day of August, A. D. 1889. JOHN MYERS,
United States Marshal for the District of Oregon.

A CHALLENGE.

The following is taken from the Junction City Pilot: [illegible] Wright, Esq., Portland, Oregon—Since an [illegible] has appeared in The Oregonian relative to "The [illegible] Threshing in the World," in which it is stated [illegible] 34 inch "Cyclone" thresher has averaged 1500 [illegible] per day, it may be interesting to you and the [illegible] farmers of the Willamette valley to know that a 32 [illegible] thresher purchased by us from you [illegible] threshed from 2000 to 2500 bushels of wheat [illegible] the last [illegible] days.

We will give $1000 for a field of 100 acres, producing [illegible] 4000 bushels of wheat, if we can not thresh the [illegible] in 12 hours with our machine. We have done [illegible] high as 400 bushels of wheat in one hour [illegible] We challenge any other machine of its size [illegible] in the state to thresh against ours at any [illegible] place that may be agreed upon. What the [illegible] has done in Linn county we don't know, [illegible] has taken the "cake" in Lane [illegible] the rest of the state.

A. A. MEEKS,
F. M. PARKER,
J. J. EATON.

[illegible] thresher is the only machine on the [illegible] that has never been replaced by any other [illegible]

YAQUINA BAY.

Write [illegible] lots for sale. Persons buying now at present [illegible] will double every dollar they will [illegible] in this property inside of six months. [illegible] I have [illegible] residence locations on the Heights between Yaquina City and Newport, very [illegible] From this property you [illegible] have a picturesque view of the bar and of the bay. Also some very choice cleared lots at Seal Rocks, the [illegible] resort of the Pacific Coast. For sale on easy terms. Remember the government is spending over one hundred and fifty thousand in improvements and Yaquina Bay is to be a great place, boomed by the Oregon Pacific Railway Co., which has large property interests there. So buy early. Get in on the ground floor and make money. I believe that's what we're all after. For further particulars call on
A. M. ELKINS,
24 Washington st.
24a?*

CHEAP HOMES.

I have for sale near the end of South Sixth street some very choice lots. Prices range from $250 per lot up. There is no such opportunity around Portland to buy homes at such reasonable prices and on such easy terms. They are only a few moments' walk from Third street car line, and a cable road, running over the hill, soon to be built, will run within a few blocks of this property. These lots are all large, well watered by springs and are within the city limits, and this is a rare chance to buy cheap homes. Maps at 24 Washington st. A. M. ELKINS.

DON'T ACT FOOLISH.

[illegible] try to make yourself believe you can ever again [illegible] a lot in cleared and immediately on a motor line [illegible] 2½ miles from the center of the city for [illegible] $ 5 cents for only $300, $10 monthly, no interest, because you certainly will be fooled. Riverside Addition is the only place you can get them and as Portland grows the value will increase and the terms become harder. Call on us at once for map of this beautiful addition.
RIGGES & HOLMES?

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

THE OYSTERVILLE BURGLARY.—The following additional particulars of the burglary of D. S. Jones's jewelry store at Oysterville were obtained from a gentleman who came up yesterday. Two hundred dollars worth of jewelry and a like amount of cash was secured. Entrance was gained by cracking a sash in the door and removing a piece of glass. The thief was tracked to Ocean Park, where he boarded a train for Ilwaco. A. Wing, of Oysterville, suspected a man named A. C. Carlson and procured papers for his arrest. When he got on the train at Ocean Park he was followed by Wing, who found that the former carried a package which it was found contained the stolen articles. At Ilwaco Wing and Deputy Sheriff Heath arrested and took Carlson back to the scene of his crime.

DISTINGUISHED DIVINES.—To-morrow morning at Calvary Presbyterian church, corner of Ninth and Clay streets, Rev. A. L. Lindsley, D. D., long pastor of the First Presbyterian church in this city and now a professor in the San Francisco Theological seminary, will preach. In the evening Rev. F. R. Beattie, D. D., will occupy the pulpit. Dr. Beattie has been for two years professor of Christian Apologetics in the Presbyterian Theological seminary at Columbia, S. C. Previous to that time, he was for some years pastor of the Presbyterian church of Brantford, Ontario, and was widely known in the Canadian assembly as a preacher and scholar. He is at Columbia the successor of Dr. Woodrow, who has become famous through his difficulties with the Southern Presbyterian assembly.

BURGLARS AT LONG BEACH.—Last Tuesday while the campers at Long Beach were occupied with their various enjoyments, three impecunious tramps who had sat up all the night before philosophizing on the question of hard times strolled through the settlement to see what they could find. They had come to the conclusion that the only solution of the problem was to help themselves to everything in their reach, and acting upon this decision they started upon a tour of wholesale pilfering. They ransacked a number of houses, terrorized women and children and then made their escape. It is not known how much they succeeded in carrying off. Later one of the trio was caught in the timber near by. He was taken to Oysterville where he will have an examination on a charge of burglary.

WILL HAY BE HIGH?—"The price of hay here this winter," said a dealer yesterday, "will largely depend upon the weather between now and winter. Should there be favorable rains to give the grass a good early start, and to keep it growing so that the cattle can get in good condition and have plenty of feed well along into the winter, hay will not be high. If there is but little rain and a consequent scarcity of grass, and people have to begin feeding early, hay will be high. There has been a fair crop of hay up the valley and, besides, considerable grain has been cut for hay in some localities, and owing to there being no very high water in the Columbia this season there was a large crop of hay along the Columbia bottoms."

ONE VIEWER RESIGNS.—Mr. J. R. Strowbridge, who was appointed one of the assessors in the matters of the Johnson creek sewer and the extension of the Tanner creek sewer, has sent notice to the common council that owing to ill health he will be unable to serve. As these are rather extensive and expensive improvements, the other viewers, Messrs. A. E. Borthwick and J. P. O. Lownsdale, do not care to assume the entire responsibility for making the assessments for them, and as it will be two weeks before another meeting of the council, it is likely that a special meeting will be called to amend the ordinances in regard to these sewers and appointing another viewer in the place of Mr. Strowbridge.

MAKING CONNECTIONS.—A force of men were at work yesterday completing the work of making connection between the rails of the electric motor line across the steel bridge. The rails have to be torn up and the planking between them opposite the points of juncture of the rails. A hole is then drilled in each rail near the end, and in these holes the end of a stout copper wire is inserted and fastened, connecting the two rails on each side. The wires on each side of the road are then connected, and a wire laid out to one of the poles to connect up the post with the overhead wire which furnishes the current to run the motors. The making of these connections is quite a complicated job.

QUITE EASY, YOU KNOW.—Two of the rear cars of the gravel train employed in filling Couch lake went off the track yesterday, as the train was being backed up the west side approach to the steel bridge. No damage was done, but the accident attracted quite a crowd, who watched the process of getting the cars back on the track with much interest. It was very interesting to see the ease and facility with which the big locomotive moved the long train around and the heavy cars were got on the track with much less fuss and bother than is often seen displayed in getting a street car on the track.

WHAT THEY PROBABLY SECURED.—Postoffice Inspector Frenchin, who left here last Sunday to look after the mail robbery which took place last Saturday on the stage route from Canyon City to Baker City, has ascertained that the robber was rewarded by finding seventeen registered packages in the mail sacks. The amount of money contained in the packages cannot as yet be estimated, but it is not improbable that from $1000 to $2000 was obtained, as it is well known that large amounts are sent between Canyon City and Baker City in this way.

MIGHT HAVE DROWNED.—Miss Iva Powell, of East Portland, is reported as having had a close call from drowning in the surf at Long Beach a few days ago. She was out with a party of young ladies who were enjoying a bath in the briny breakers, when the life-rope gave way and her nymph like form sank beneath the surface. The ubiquitous commercial traveler was present in the person of Mr. Sifert, who rushed to the rescue, and, together with Mr. C. Allen, post trader at Fort Canby, brought the young lady to shore.

DELEGATES SET SAIL.—The grand council of the Young Men's Institutes of the Pacific Northwest will be held in Oakland, California, commencing Monday next, and continuing three days. The following delegates left this city on the steamer Columbia last night: D. J. Kelly and Jerry Meagher, No. 56, Portland; H. J. Alstock, No. 65, East Portland; J. P. Kealy and J. H. Richter, No. 99, Cincinatti; O. W. P. McCarthy, No. 102, Missoula, Montana; D. J. Donohue and W. Guedeneler, No. 104, Butte, Montana.

WILL REMAIN.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of Pacific university, held in this city Thursday, arrangements were made by which Professor W. N. Ferrin will remain during the coming year in the place which he has held so long in the university. Professor Shaw, of whom mention was made a few days ago in this connection, will also be employed as a teacher. The friends of the university will be pleased to know that its prospects are favorable for a year of energetic and useful work.

HAS FORWARDED THEM.—Captain Cleveland Rockwell, of the Coast and Geodetic survey, has forwarded the plans and records of the survey made by him of the Columbia river from Tansy point up to Tongue point. He will now proceed to make a survey of the Columbia by triangulation with the topography and hydrography from the mouth of the Willamette up toward the Cascades, this part of the river never having been thoroughly surveyed before.

ON THE JUST AND UNJUST.—A refreshing shower of rain fell from 4 to 5 o'clock yesterday morning, which [illegible] dust washed off the foliage, and to a great extent dissipated the smoke. The air was fresh and cool yesterday, and the gardens were fragrant with the odor of roses. A good rain of two or three days duration would wash everything clean and bring the grand old snow peaks into view and give us a spell of glorious Indian summer weather.

WORK WILL GO AHEAD.—The notes for the subsidy for building the Waverly-Woodstock electric motor line are all taken up, with the exception of a few small ones, and work will go ahead without fail. The contractor for the building of the road, Messrs. Thompson & [illegible], who was [illegible] Boston yesterday [illegible] road has been forwarded to [illegible] making his preparations for fulfilling this contract.

A GREAT ACCOMMODATION.—Commencing on September [illegible] the new [illegible] mail service on the Portland & Vancouver railway will be [illegible] pouches twice a day. The mails will leave Portland at [illegible] A. M. and 1:45 P. M., and [illegible] Vancouver at [illegible] A. M. and [illegible] P. M. This [illegible] be a great accommodation to the citizens of Vancouver, and they are much pleased that it is to be furnished.

[illegible] GERMAN LECTURER.—Rev. H. Borchard, [illegible] of Germany [illegible] the [illegible] conference, will deliver an interesting free lecture in this city to-morrow (Sunday) evening at Arion hall on First street between Stark and Washington. The subject of the lecture will be "The Germans in Foreign Countries." Rev. Borchard is on an extended trip through the United States.

ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE.—Yesterday morning Dr. A. C. Patton adjudged Jens Mecklesen insane, after examining him in the county jail. The patient is [illegible] years of age, a native of Germany and married. He was in the asylum once before about three years ago. During his examination he was praying for the United States government. There is no cause assigned for his mental affliction.

REMAINS SHIPPED FOR BURIAL.—The remains of Fred Bensse, who died at the Portland hospital from injuries inflicted by himself with a butcher knife, with suicidal intent, were yesterday morning shipped to Kalama for burial. The deceased was a Freemason and the funeral will be conducted according to the rites of that order.

CAPE MEARS LIGHTHOUSE.—Mr. C. B. Duhrkoop, who has the contract for constructing the tower of the lighthouse at Cape Mears, returned from a visit to that place yesterday. He reports the work going ahead rapidly, and says everything will be in readiness for the light to burn by October 1st.

DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.—The [illegible] Hardtram[illegible], who was severely injured several days ago by his being thrown from a horse which had shied on being frightened by a steam whistle that was blown near Hillsboro, died in great agony after two days suffering.

WANTS THE BALANCE.—Yesterday J. R. Dawson began proceedings against Ernest Kroener to recover $538.15 balance due on promissory notes.

TO-DAY, TO-DAY.—Grand mark down: $20 suits $10 at Kohn's.

AN ASSORTMENT on J. Seling & Co.'s bargain counter to-day: Ladies black hose, fast colors, 25 cents and 40 cents; children's [illegible] cents; [illegible] hundred pairs of fine white blankets purchased at the recent auction sale of the Mission woolen mills; about ninety boxes of men's full finished French hose at $1 a box; an assorted lot of children's cashmere embroidered coats at $3, worth $4, $5 and $6.

THREE HORSES EVENLY MATCHED.—Messrs. F. House, H. C. Breeden and C. M. Forbes have matched their respective horses for a race at the Riverside track to-day. As the horses are all of about the same rate of speed it is expected to be one of the most interesting races of the day, each of the parties having made up his mind to win.

FOSS HAS BEEN SUED.—Levi F. Foss, the clerk in Walter S. Keys's medicine shop on First street, who was fined $100 in the police court Wednesday for the larceny of $19 from S. Rosenthal, who by mistake gave him a $20 piece in place of a silver dollar, has been sued in Justice Tuttle's court for the recovery of the $19.

GRAIN COMING IN.—Wheat is coming in over the West Side road freely and the transportation facilities of the road are taxed to their full limit. The sight of thirty boxcars and a caboose going up Fourth street behind three locomotives gives an idea of what is being done in the way of moving the crops.

BACK FROM THE COAST.—For several weeks past Rev. Dr. Ross C. Houghton, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, and family have been down at Long Beach enjoying the breezes of old Neptune. They have returned and Dr. Houghton will occupy his pulpit to-morrow both morning and evening.

JUDGE ADAMS ON A VACATION.—City Attorney W. H. Adams left for Seal Rock for a week's vacation this morning. His family have been there spending the season in their summer cottage. During the absence of Judge Adams the office of city attorney will be conducted by Charles Pfeiffer.

FIFTY-THREE YEARS, this fall, marks the wonderful success of the celebrated Knox hat. The fall styles are now on sale, and for design and artistic finish it surpasses all previous productions. Their sole agents are Buffum & Pendleton.

DO NOT GET LEFT.—All those intending to enjoy a pleasant time with Battery A at Camp Washington to-morrow will have to be on hand by 9 o'clock at Jefferson depot. Train will leave promptly. Tickets for sale at the cars.

DIED AT WOODBURN, OR., August 23, at 8 o'clock P. M., Mr. J. T. Hunsaker. Mr. Edward Holman, the undertaker, has gone to Woodburn to prepare the remains for burial. Funeral will take place Sunday at Oregon City.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN THE CITY TO-MORROW, August 25, caused by the Danish Aid Society's picnic at Gambrinus garden. Be sure to come.

MY NEW STOCK of rare wines, liquors and delicacies, is beginning to arrive, and I am offering the same to my friends. L. S. Mayer.

100 ODD SHIRTS and drawers will be closed out to-day at 50 cents each at Kohn's, Second and Morrison streets.

DON'T FAIL to see the latest novelties in cloths for fine suitings at Kohn's.

SOX AT 15 cents per pair, worth 25 cents, at Kohn's.

SHE KEPT ON THE MOVE

A Brief Account of the Work Done by the Manzanita on Her Trip to Alaska.

The lighthouse tender Manzanita arrived here Thursday night and was taking on material for the light station at Destruction island yesterday. She has just returned from an extended trip in the Alaskan waters, and a glance through her log book shows how busy she was kept during the trip. The district which she attends to extends from Cape Blanco to the Behring sea, including Puget sound, and is altogether too extensive for one steamer to look after.

The Manzanita left Astoria for Alaska on July 1, and after touching at Port Townsend proceeded to Departure bay, Vancouver island, where she took on eighty-five tons of coal and then proceeded on her voyage. On the morning of the 18th, while passing through Fitz Hugh sound, she passed a steamer which blew three whistles as a signal of distress. She was found to be the steamer Leo from Seattle for Sitka disabled on account of her propeller having worked loose. She was towed twenty-five miles to Bella Bella, where she went on the beach to make repairs.

The Manzanita then proceeded to Tongass narrows and Fort Wrangel to Wrangel narrows, where the spar buoys were changed for iron buoys of the style known as ice buoys. The wooden buoys taken up were of cedar, which has been claimed is not troubled by the teredo, but it was found that all that part of the buoys under water were completely honeycombed by this destructive worm. The holes bored in every direction are about a quarter of an inch in diameter. The next day the fishing commissioner's steamer Albatross passed south with a congressional delegation on board.

At Juneau the British war ships Swiftsure, Amphion and Icarus were lying in port. The Manzanita then changed the buoys at Favorite reef, Vanderbilt rock and Hanus reef and steamed around to Peril straits and changed four buoys and proceeded to Sitka, where she coaled and changed buoys and painted beacons in Sitka harbor. A buoy was set on Francis rock and buoys were changed at Whetstone narrows and Rose island and Morris reef. Then she proceeded to Wrangel and on to Fort Simpson, where the British fleet was met, reinforced by the Champion. The Manzanita reached Departure bay on her return August 8, and so on home.

This sketch of her doings will give an idea of the amount of work she had to attend to, which kept the vessel and all connected with her on the move all the time without rest. Another boat should be furnished this lighthouse district at once.

EVIDENTLY A PUT UP JOB

So the Landlady Thinks of the Attempted Burglary Reported in Her House Thursday Evening.

A reporter yesterday called at the house on the southeast corner of Morrison and East Park streets where an attempted burglary was reported the evening before. The landlady, who was so sure that some one had thrown chloroform through the window when the officers arrived, has somewhat changed her mind since, and now thinks that she is the victim of a practical joke played on her by the two alleged students who occupied the room in which the chloroform was supposed to have been thrown.

"The two students were in the room," said the woman, "when they claim that the chloroform was thrown in. The lamp was burning brightly. The window was only lowered a few inches from the top, and I can't understand how any one could throw anything through the window with [illegible] and through and attracting attention [illegible] the wind without waking [illegible] the [illegible] and the noise made it [illegible]."

The students left [illegible] after reporting the attempted burglary without taking any [illegible] [illegible] the door [illegible] did not return until this [illegible] when they came after their trunks and [illegible] the return of a week's room rent which they had paid in advance. Whether they were [illegible] or [illegible] having [illegible] [illegible] I think that it must have been a put up job by them. They never gave [illegible] [illegible] they even refused to tell [illegible] where they were going.

The police never took any stock in the chloroform story, and think that the old woman has [illegible] the [illegible] of their joke.

An Abominable Legacy.

A tendency to rheumatism is undoubtedly inherited. Unlike many other legacies it remains in the family. The most effectual means of checking this tendency or of removing the plant from mention, whether preexistent in the blood or not, is to resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as soon as the premonitory twinges are felt. Nullifying the influences of the cold exposure and fatigue, the Bitters not only fortifies the system against their hurtful consequences, but subjugates malaria, liver and kidney complaint, dyspepsia and nerve disquietude.

All Run Down

From the weakening effects of warm weather, by hard work, or from long illness, you need a good tonic and blood purifier. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives a good appetite, strengthens the whole system, purifies the blood, regulates the digestion.

"It affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health two years ago was very poor. My friends thought I was going with consumption. I commenced using Hood's Sarsaparilla, took five bottles of it, and to-day I can do as hard a day's work as I ever could. It saved me from the grave and put me on my feet a sound, healthy man." On March 11, 1889, the undersigned were elected directors of [illegible] educational association which is now conducting the Portland Business College. [illegible] the incorporation [illegible] [illegible] school was conducted by Mr. A. P. Armstrong [illegible] [illegible] the annual attendance [illegible] within the last three years. PORTLAND, SATURDAY, AUG. 24.

ARTESIAN WELLS.

Mr. Ily. Gerr, of Baker City, informs us that Mr. Twiss, of that place, has bored for water and has succeeded in securing a flowing well of very large capacity. He thinks the well is about three hundred feet deep and says the flow is equal to ten inches of water. Baker City is on the west of the Blue mountains and about thirty miles from Snake river. It is not peculiarly located and represents fairly a great part of the Inland Empire; so that if water can be had there it is probable it can be had at similar depths throughout Eastern Oregon and Washington, and much of Idaho along Snake river and other streams. It is the intention to take steps to secure water from artesian wells for the supply of Baker City. While this well was a private effort, it will probably lead to a public enterprise and secure the best of good water for the use of that place. All indications favor the belief that good water can be had for the boring all through the interior, and when it is demonstrated that artesian flowing wells can be had by going down three hundred feet, there will be no good excuse for towns of that region not to possess the best of water.

This valley has the conformation of surrounding ranges and of undoubted pressure to keep water to the surface. It is true that Mr. [illegible] sunk a well over 1000 feet in depth and found no flowing water to repay him, but we are not in the Willamette valley here, or a few miles east of here, and cannot expect such results as would be possible south of the falls of the Willamette. Salem has water from the river that does not give full satisfaction, but if artesian wells can be bored and flowing water secured, it will be possible for all the towns up the valley to have pure water at reasonable outlay and moderate cost for the monthly supply.

Parties at Pullman, and two other places in Eastern Washington, have put down artesian wells, and while all have secured water in abundant supply, Pullman has got a flowing well of great value. The result is of great importance to the whole upper country. It would be interesting to know exactly the particulars, how far the wells were bored and the quantity of the water secured, as well as its character, and so judge as to the ability of other places to do likewise. If artesian wells, or any good wells, can be had for boring in the interior and a supply of water secured by pumping, the character of that arid region will be materially changed from what it now appears. In those uplands strong winds blow; windmills can be operated with certainty and water pumped from a considerable depth. If the success at Pullman indicates that flowing wells can be had at moderate expense, then the supply of water for stock can be rendered permanent and a supply for irrigation purposes be had, as it is had in California. Anyone who has traveled in California has noticed windmills in operation very generally. In all the length of that state they have artesian wells and find water, often flowing to the surface and irrigating quite an expanse. The structure of the Inland Empire is peculiarly favorable for flowing wells, as the Cascade ranges form an immense barrier on the west that is only broken through at great distances by the Klamath and Columbia, and far north by Fraser's river. On the east again are towering Cordilleras that reach from Mexico to the pole, and the basin spread out between the lofty barriers has streams that often find no outlet to the western sea, but empty their waters into great lakes that seemingly have no exit. If there is any region where the artesian [illegible] should be [illegible] in this vast interior, where the [illegible] of mountain streams percolating the strata corresponding with the [illegible] that made the mountains, will [illegible] their waters through such [illegible] to the [illegible] the needs of man and quench the thirst of his flocks and herds.

[illegible]

NOTE AND COMMENT.

[illegible]

[illegible] families, and negro women [illegible] members, cooks and household servants from time immemorial. The writer has seen [illegible] himself when in his prime, stop on the streets of Charleston and shake hands with some favorite negro servant of a friend's family, who asked after all the Calhoun family and was answered as politely as if it had been the master himself. All the narrow bigotry of our day is a prejudice as naked as Southern pride and as idle as the Southern wind. The world will go on and rate the negro at his actual worth, and prejudice will not count against intelligence and true worth. The negro need not, as an equal, associate with the white man to be his peer, but if he acquires the ability he will rank accordingly.

One of Victoria's girls has got a duke for a husband who is not on the beg or borrow, nor will he even accept gifts sent to the Park. Though his name is Fife, and doesn't date back into the ages of chivalry so far as the Howards and Cecils, yet he has chivalrous pride that don't permit his bride to be dowered by the British exchequer. The Prince of Wales will probably have to be kept up by public money, for he hasn't so much inherited cash and must uphold more state. It would be greatly to his credit if he refused to receive pecuniary aid from any source, known or unknown.

Many a beautiful tree loses its beauty, despoiled and its life wasted because some heedless person hitches his horse to it and the horse gnaws it and peels off the bark. In a city, a beautiful tree is a joy forever, its grateful shade and its refreshing verdure please and charm generations as they come and go. It is very easy by carelessness to destroy things of value and cause loss that cannot be replaced or remedied. The matter of hitching horses where they do injury to trees and shrubbery is of greater importance than many believe and such are the careless ones who do most of it [illegible].

Bears' nests may be considered dangerous places as a matter of course, and the Bear's Nest found and prospected at Alaska falls sustains the rule. It has not often been so that work has been pushed on so extensive a scale as [illegible] before [illegible] discovery is made that no permanent ore deposit existed. There was [illegible] of tunneling done and very expensive work to accommodate a mill with 120 stamps. Hundreds of thousands of dollars spent and with [illegible] hopes disappointed. This was truly a [illegible], and the men discharged will hardly know which way to turn.

The New York Record says this is a high pressure age, where men live fast without discretion, and hurry in a way that makes a waste of life. Late hours and luxury, nervous waste, dissipation, extravagance, sensualism, eating and drinking without license, all these things, coupled with intense application to business, in many of the most brilliant minds of the period, cause a falling off in life's prime. [illegible] men wear out and burn the candle at both ends. It is best to go steadily and surely, to work on a sure basis but not in a hurry, to be sure and then go ahead moderately. That will win in the end.

For the present year, those who claim to know, assert that India cannot furnish much wheat for export, and cannot be expected to develop much additional wheat land in the future. Sir James Caird says "that India, both from its large population, which is every year rapidly increasing, and from its comparatively limited extent of further available wheat land, cannot be depended on for large and continuous supplies of wheat to Europe." So it is not to be feared or expected that India will greatly disturb the wheat producers of the world with its future supplies of bread stuff, a fact, if sustained by future experience, that will greatly please European and American wheat growers.

It is amusing to read some sensational paragraphs that intimate that England is spoiling for a fight and waiting for Uncle Samuel to knock a chip off the shoulder of its British Columbia. They give alarming pictures of the way Old England has battened up the cracks and put up bolts and bars for its territory on the Pacific. If all they say is true England is merely in the line of its duty when it builds its defenses and maintains its ports and arsenals. At present the two countries are on the best of terms and propose to stay so. America will be England's best friend in the future and should be so in the present. It will be England's fault if this nation is blind enough to overlook these facts.

[illegible] C. Grant, who was murdered at Spokane and robbed by a room mate of several thousand dollars had a great deal of sympathy for a while. Thousands would have liked to bring him to life again and put the murderer in his place. "Murder will out," as the fellow found out [illegible] "Murder will out" [illegible] sympathy [illegible] East and West [illegible] wives.

[illegible]

lows arrived, and places were found for them. Several of them were rather dudish, but all went to work and seem to take the world as it comes, really doing fairly well. A fellow who has a couple of these long legged boys on his hands reports that they pitch in lively, milk the cows and do the chores, and promise in time to learn how to do good work. They have been well educated, and know a little of almost everything but work. Our former friend's wife is on the qui vive about most things, and she told her husband the other day that one of his "farm hands" was the son of a general in the British army, and the other had for his father a post captain in the British navy. This proved correct; so the lads are fairly well born, have had good education, and are young gentlemen, but they don't appear to be homesick. At threshing time they sleep in the haymow, and smilingly remark, "This is awfully jolly, you know."

We hear but little of late about dishorning cattle, and what little we hear goes to show that the craze of last year has passed by and dishorning is fallen into disrepute. THE OREGONIAN made its opinion decidedly known in opposition to the practice and can take some satisfaction in finding that its opinion, taken at the time against all comers, has been very generally confirmed by the popular will and also by the courts. An English society to prevent cruelty to animals brought action against a Norfolk farmer for dishorning his cattle and the case was tried before magistrates who dismissed the charge, but the society appealed to the high court of justice and the lord chief justice and Mr. Hawkins made their judgment in writing, reversing that of the magistrates and deciding against the farmer. Their decision was at great length and covered the whole case. For the purpose desired the great pain inflicted was unnecessary and the reasons given were not sufficient to justify it. It concluded by saying the practice was not only barbarous and inhuman but clearly unlawful also.

Fire proof safes and fire proof houses are too often misnomers. Recent conflagrations have laid the business portions of Seattle, Ellensburg, Spokane and Vancouver, Harley, Reno and Bakersfield in ashes, and safes were not safe, and fire proof houses vanished in smoke. A lesson has been given which [illegible] should be heeded and understood [illegible] the world. When Chicago and Boston burned the flames went over the city [illegible] In such terrible conflagrations the [illegible] efficient and steadfast work of human hands [illegible] No such [illegible] had due precautions been taken all the great fires from the night that Nero fiddled while Rome burned until now would not have occurred.

The other night Salem had a blaze that swept away several stables and came near destroying several houses. The fire department was on hand to save and managed to prevent the flames spreading. This was the work of an incendiary, for there had been no fire in the buildings burned. At Walla Walla after several such fires they set a detective to work, and the result was a discovery that about twenty boys 13 to 15 years old had formed a firebug association to burn and destroy the town. At Salem and other towns there have been such fires occurring for many years, at intervals, and boys have been detected conspiring for the purpose. It is simply terrible that such things can be, for if boys grow up in such depravity, what will they be when fully ripe in wickedness? The boy who plays the hoodlum and haunts the streets of any town by night, and has the run of its saloons and livery stables will be apt to go to the bad. There is too much of perverting influence prevalent in all towns, and small boys who lack parental government become veterans in profane ways while [illegible]

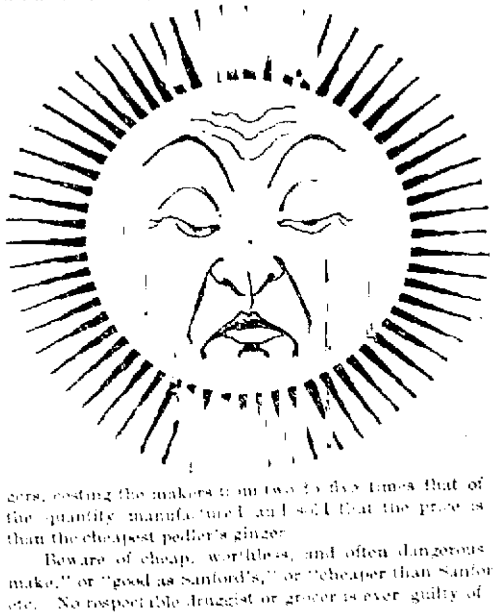
This unrivaled summer medicine and traveling companion is sure to check every disturbance of the stomach and bowels, instantly relieve cramps and pains, prevent indigestion, destroy disease germs in water drunk, promote perspiration, restore the circulation when suspended by excessive heat or sudden chill,—a frequent cause of sunstroke and cholera morbus,—break up colds and fevers, promote sleep, allay nervousness, and ward off malarial, contagious and epidemic influences.



For the aged, mentally and physically overworked, nervous and weakly, it is most beneficial. Never travel without it.

Compounded of imported ginger, choice aromatics and the best of medicinal French brandy, SANFORD'S GINGER is the best of all gingers, costing the makers from two to five times that of any other, and yet so great is the quantity manufactured and sold that the price is placed but a few cents higher than the cheapest pedler's ginger.

Beware of cheap, worthless, and often dangerous gingers, said to be "our own make," or "good as Sanford's," or "cheaper than Sanford's," or "same as Sanford's," etc. No respectable druggist or grocer is ever guilty of urging substitutes. Avoid all others. Ask for and insist upon having

EXPIATED HIS CRIME.

Harry Roberts Hung at Butte, Montana, Yesterday.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—A special to the Republic from Butte, Mont., says: Harry Roberts was hanged to-day for the murder of J. W. Crawford. The drop fell at 1:12 and Roberts's neck was broken by the fall.

Strong pressure was brought to bear by Grand Army men and a number of citizens to have the sentence commuted to life imprisonment, and it was not until 8:45 this morning that the condemned man abandoned all hope. When the sheriff read the message from Governor White, refusing to interfere with the law's decree, Roberts did not weaken to the last and died as he had lived, a cool and determined man.

Roberts's crime was the unprovoked killing of Crawford. Crawford was a teamster under Roberts and they had a quarrel, and Roberts shot him while drinking.

A somewhat dramatic incident was connected with the burial of Crawford. He was a good-natured man and had many friends. His relatives lived at Butler, Mo., and telegrams were sent asking them what disposition should be made of his remains. No answer was received for two days and the funeral procession with Crawford's remains was en route to the cemetery, when the coroner came rushing out from the street with a telegram from the relatives. This said that they would like to have the remains, but were too poor to pay the expense of embalming and shipping. A collection was taken up on the spot and the hearse [illegible] back to town and the remains embalmed and shipped [illegible]

A FORGER ARRESTED.

Wanted in Santa Barbara on the Charge of Signing His Father's Name.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—D. K. Stringfield, mentioned in the dispatches from Santa Barbara as a fugitive forger, was arrested at Whatcom Wednesday by Sheriff Broughton, and is now on his way to the scene of the crime.

THE SIGNATURES PROBABLY GENUINE.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Aug. 23.—The sheriff of this county has gone to Washington territory for D. K. Stringfield, who is wanted here on a charge of forging the signature of his father, S. Stringfield, to two notes for $400 and $100, respectively, on local banks. It is believed here, however, that the signatures are genuine, and that S. Stringfield, who is 80 years old and childish, has forgotten that he signed them, as it so happened in the case of another note known to be genuine.

ARTESIAN WELLS.

Mr By Geer, of Baker City, informs us that Mr Twiss, of that place, has bored for water and has succeeded in securing a flowing well of very large capacity He thinks the well is about three hundred feet deep and says the flow is equal to ten inches of water. Baker City is on the west of the Blue mountains and about thirty miles from Snake river It is not peculiarly located and represents fairly a great part of the Inland Empire; so that if water can be had there it is probable it can be had at similar depths throughout Eastern Oregon and Washington, and much of Idaho along Snake river and other streams It is the intention to take steps to secure water from artesian wells for the supply of Baker City While this well was a private effort, it will probably lead to a public enterprise and secure the best of good water for the use of that place All indications favor the belief that good water can be had for the boring all through the interior, and when it is demonstrated that artesian flowing wells can be had by going down three hundred feet, there will be no good excuse for towns of that region not to possess the best of water

This valley has the conformation of surrounding ranges and of undoubted pressure to bring water to the surface It is true that Mr Ladd sunk a well over 1000 feet in depth and found no flowing water to repay him, but we are not in the Willamette valley here, or a few miles east of here, and cannot expect such results as would be possible south of the falls of the Willamette Salem has water from the river that does not give full satisfaction, but if artesian wells can be bored and flowing water secured it will be possible for all the towns up the valley to have pure water at reasonable outlay and moderate cost for the monthly supply

Parties at Pullman, and two other places in Eastern Washington, have put down artesian wells, and while all have secured water in abundant supply, Pullman has got a flowing well of great value The result is of great importance to the whole upper country It would be interesting to know exactly the particulars, how far the wells were bored and the quantity of the water secured, as well as its character, and so judge as to the ability of other places to do likewise If artesian wells, or any good wells, can be had for boring in the interior and a supply of water secured by pumping, the character of that arid region will be materially changed from what it now appears In those uplands strong winds blow, windmills can be operated with certainty and water pumped from a considerable depth If the success at Pullman indicates that flowing wells can be had at moderate expense, then the supply of water for stock can be rendered permanent and a supply for irrigation purposes be had, as it is had in California Anyone who has traveled in California has noticed windmills in operation very generally In all the length of that state they have artesian wells and find water often flowing to the surface and irrigating quite an expanse The structure of the Inland Empire is peculiarly favorable for flowing wells as the Cascade ranges form an immense barrier on the west that is only broken through at great distances by the Klamath and Columbia and far north by Fraser's river On the east again are towering Cordilleras that reach from Mexico to the pole, and the basin spread out between these lofty barriers has streams that often find no outlet to the western sea but empty their waters into great lakes that seemingly have no exit. If there is any region where the artesian borer should find water it should be in this vast interior where the pressure of mountain streams, percolating the strata corresponding with the upheavals that made the mountains, will force their waters through such an outlet to the surface to supply the needs of man and quench the thirst of his flocks and herds

Natural formations favor the existence of submerged water deposits that have all the pressure these corraling mountains represent, and should be forced to the surface where opportunity offers This Inland Empire is generally an arid region that only needs water to bloom like a garden Its soil is prodigiously fertile, and the question of water supply is all that prevents its future from being prosperous and productive Not only does this question affect our own state and Washington but it is of even greater importance to arid districts yet further east If by a system of ditches for irrigation or by boring artesian wells a water supply can be procured to invigorate the soil of the region so lately known as "the Great American deserts" the result will be the redemption of an area from an arid state that can support millions and tens of millions of people in all the refinement and luxury of life The magic of Arabian story never told of more brilliant change than time will produce throughout this interior when the needed water supply is furnished Where now are desert wastes will wave ripening fields and rise beautiful homes Here and there as needed marts of trade will spring up cities and towns will gem the landscapes and civilization will reach its acme if invigorating water can quench the thirst of this soil parched for centuries, and cause it to give birth to crops and herds Man will plant groves and orchards and make civilization bear rich fruit where desert wastes forbid his foot to tread to day All that is needed to perfect this picture and bring fruition to pass is that by some means the soil can be restored to its original fertility and heaven's dews lend their aid to bless man's labors

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Surgeon General Hammond started to build a $40 000 hospital and a $60 000 house and has followed the advice of his architect until he has expended $250 000. This one followed the example of other Washington architects and made estimates far below the cost The doctor has dismissed him and he sues for $6000 for his services If there is any chance for justice in Washington Dr Hammond should receive heavy damages not the architect He has involved the good doctor in fearful expense and now tries to be the architect of his own fortune at the doctor's expense to the tune of $6000

The grain bags needed for Oregon this harvest figure up 12,000 000 meaning as many centals of wheat, or 600,000 tons. This is not as much as California grows but is enough to load 600 ships that can carry 1000 tons each That figures up largely and if the wheat lands of Washington lo as well the crop that will represent the Pacific Northwest will require 1200 ships or 1000 ships of average good size This region is climbing into the pictures with its wheat products as well as for its products of all kinds One good bearing year will surprise the world with figures from the Columbia and Puget sound as alarming as correct

What nuts there will be to crack when the state of Washington is under full sail! The Puyallup reservation that lies opposite the city of Tacoma offers a nut of priceless value as it is directly opposite that city and its shores form a water front of tide lands not easily assessible or come at able This water front is appreciated at millions and it will tax the ingenuity of brilliant minds to circumvent those shores and apportion those mud banks among the few initiated All of a sudden local politicians will be eager for [illegible] and no low land will do them so well as those tide lands on the Puyallup [illegible] Oklahoma will lose interest in comparison with the rush for Puyallup

The Atlanta postmaster has fallen among thieves, if ever any decent man has done so One would think colored people were poison the way they are treated, but all the high born aristocrats of the South, who were financially able had foster-mothers from the slaves of the family, and it is beyond question that many of the proudest Southern families used to have their counterpart in yellow covered humanity where the proudest sires of Georgia and the Carolinas were cross bred with their own slave women Negro men filled familiar and confidential positions in the crack families, and negro women were nurses, foster mothers, cooks and household servants from time immemorial. The writer has seen John C. Calhoun himself, when in his prime, stop on the streets of Charleston and shake hands with some favorite negro servant of a friend's family, who asked after all the Calhoun family and was answered as politely as if it had been the master himself. All the narrow hypocrisy of our day is a prejudice as naked as Southern pride and as idle as the Southern wind. The world will go on and rate the negro at his actual worth, and prejudice will not count against intelligence and true worth. The negro need not, as an equal associate with the white man to be his peer but if he acquires the ability he will rank accordingly

One of Victoria's girls has got a duke for a husband who is not on the beg or borrow, nor will he even accept gifts sent in the dark Though his name is Fife and doesn't date back into the ages of chivalry so far as the Howards and Cecils yet he has chivalrous pride that don't permit his bride to be dowered by the British exchequer The Prince of Wales will probably have to be kept up by public money, for he hasn't so much inherited coin and must uphold more state It would be greatly to his credit if he refused to receive eleemosynary aid from any source known or unknown.

Many a beautiful tree has its beauty despoiled and its life wasted because some heedless person hitches his horse to it and the horse gnaws it and peels off the bark In a city a beautiful tree is a joy forever Its grateful shade and its refreshing verdure please and charm generations as they come and go It is very easy by carelessness to destroy things of value and cause loss that can not be replaced or repaired The matter of hitching horses where they do injury to trees and shrubbery is of greater importance than many believe and such are the careless ones who do most of the harm

Bears nests may be considered dangerous places as a matter of course, and the Bear's Nest found and prospected at Alaska fully sustains the rule It has not often been so that work has been pushed on so extensive a scale as in this instance before the discovery is made that no permanent ore deposit existed There was nearly quarter of a mile of tunneling done and very expensive work to accommodate a mill with 120 stamps Hundreds of thousands of coin is spent and millions of hopes disappointed This was truly a catastrophe, and the men discharged will hardly know which way to turn

The New York Record says this is a high pressure age, where men live fast without dissipation, and hurry in a way that makes a waste of life Late hours and luxury nervous waste dissipation extravagance, sensualism eating and drinking without license, all these things coupled with intense application to business, in many of the most brilliant minds of the period, cause a falling off in life's prime These overly brilliant men wear out and burn the candle at both ends It is best to go steadily and surely, to work on a sure basis but not in a hurry to be sure and then go ahead moderately That will win in the end.

For the present year those who claim to know assert that India cannot furnish much wheat for export, and cannot be expected to develop much additional wheat land in the future Sir James Caird says "That India, both from its large population, which is every year rapidly increasing, and from its comparatively limited extent of further available wheat land cannot be depended on for large and continuous supplies of wheat to Europe." So it is not to be feared or expected that India will greatly disturb the wheat producers of the world with its future supplies of bread stuff a fact, if sustained by future experience, that will greatly please European and American wheat growers

It is amusing to read some sensational paragraphs that intimate that England is spoiling for a fight and waiting for Uncle Samuel to knock a chip off the shoulder of its British Columbia. They give assuring pictures of the way Hold England has battened up the cracks and put up bolts and bars for its territory on the Pacific. If all they say is true England is merely in the line of its duty when it builds its defenses and maintains its ports and arsenals. At present the two countries are on the best of terms and propose to stay so America will be England's best friend in the future and should be so in the present It will be England's fault if this nation is blind enough to overlook these facts

C C Grant, who was murdered at Spokane and robbed by a room mate of several thousand dollars had a great deal of sympathy for a while Thousands would have liked to bring him to life again and put the murderer in his place. "Murder will out," as the fellow found out who did this deed and so will other criminal deeds. In truth, the maxim "Murder will out," means with a free construction, that all crimes will naturally betray the criminal and be found out The murdered man, Grant, seems to have less human sympathy than at first. Bigamy has found him out and two wives, hailing from East and West, claim his assets, leaving North and South to be heard from. Alas poor Yorick! Alas for the wives.

Free speech is dangerous when it is taken down shorthand and made a matter of record, and that is what ails Ford of the Irish World, and Alexander Sullivan the Chicago lawyer For years the two of them preached or published a dynamite campaign, and Parnell says they greatly hindered his efforts for home rule by their fierce utterances Now they are anxious to prove that they did nothing of the kind but not all the water of Niagara will wash away their blatant incendiarism The American people have no sympathy with red mouthed murder, and Irish citizens will find neither sympathy or mercy at the hands of true Americans so long as they commit murders like that of Dr Cronin or utter incendiary threats such as the dynamiters so loudly vaunt.

Railroad construction does not progress as in 1888 and the 1522 miles constructed in the first six months is said to be only one half what it was in the same period last year The North seems to be fairly well supplied with streaks of rust and little work goes on there, save on this end of the Northern line. The greater part of the work is done at the South and the total for the year is only estimated at 5000 to 6000 miles In the Pacific Northwest an active work is going on and the roads projected and building here at the present time must equal most of the work done at the South Oregon has the Oregon Pacific and the Astoria Coast line as well as some short lines that are projected Several roads are being built over on the Sound and more in Eastern Washington

Salem has a society organized and in more or less active operation that is calculated to accomplish much good. It is commonly known as the Salem Decorative Union and is composed of ladies and gentlemen of a highly ornamental character Of course no such associations could thrive with eminently plain people engaged in the work Its president of course, must be a gentleman of highly ecstatic temperament and wholly and soully engaged in the work J J Murphy esq fills the idea and is devoted to the work. This association intends to beautify and adorn the Capital city in many ways and will never rest until it accomplishes the aim of its being Just imagine what the Capital city will become when its friends shall have accomplished these beneficent results

Hay and Nicolay of course took a contract with time and humanity to build up the character of President Lincoln to the fullest extent and the martyr president is pictured in the pages of the Century as possessing greatness and goodness political craft and wonderful forecast, together with gentleness and kindness that no man has ever equaled or even approached His life and words breathe a thought of mercy and plea for pardon with every utterance and every deed Unselfish kindly firm yielding yet unyielding when occasion required the character of Lincoln gives his name for all time a Christ like halo as well as a hero's wreath The people loved him the world honored him his enemies could not continue to scorn him and Time will bear his name for untold generations towards immortality that shall be greener as the cycles offer no human comparison.

Senator Morrill sums up in the Forum the career of his party and shows conclusively that the country owes to its republican administrations all the great good that has been accomplished in thirty years It is true that the tree is known by its fruits but there is no disposition on the world's part to sustain any man or any party any longer than it lives up to its past standards It holds to strict account for the actual facts of the present and the promise for the future, rather than gives credit for the past This is true in politics and republicans who feel sanguine of success because of the glorious career their party has had in the past and predicate hopes from the prejudice that democracy engendered in its past, will find themselves mistaken in their estimate of popular will. Democracy will walk into power whenever the republican party leaves the bars down so that the way is open It is very fine to have a glorious record but finer still to keep that record bright and spotless The balance of power waits on adventitious aids of circumstance trifles light as air overturn or rebuild as has case be and glorious records vanish on election day

Panama has seen various changes since it awoke to new life by the discovery of gold in 1849 Then steamers came there for passengers soon a railroad was built and the isthmus trade became phenomenal all at once Ages before that Panama was alive with interest because a commerce had sprung up there with the Pacific, and in time the Spanish main was alive with buccaneers and other salt water fish Looking at the rolling years we find that Panama was an important point and being the key to the trade with the Pacific world Spain made much of it and its importance was magnified by the course of years Then came de Lesseps and made more life than the buccaneers and scattered more gold than the gold hunters did in the fifties His canal was to make permanent the glory of Panama, and for all time it was to be the emporium of both continents and the key to all the commerce of the Pacific world But de Lesseps is no longer a bonanza and the canal has no certainty for the coming years Panama has gone back to its medieval condition, and it is very doubtful if Time can ever bring its anticipated glories to bear or rescue its hopes from their threatened oblivion

Some sharp operator is making a handsome commission or fee received for bringing young Englishmen over here to engage in agricultural pursuits and learn something of the ways of the world. Fifty pounds sterling, or $250 American coin pays their passage money and finds them a location in some good farmer's family It is not easy to see how any young cockney from the banks of the Surry can learn much of the world in connection with Oregon farmer's work. Recently an importation of four of these young fellows arrived and places were found for them Several of them were rather dudish but all went to work and seem to take the world as it comes A fellow who has a really doing fairly well couple of these long legged boys on his hands reports that they pitch in lively milk the cows and do the chores and promise in time to learn how to do good work They have been well educated and know a little of almost everything but work Our farmer friend's wife is on the qui vive about most things, and she told her husband the other day that one of his "farm hands" was the son of a general in the British army and the other had for his father a port captain in the British navy This proved correct so the lads are fairly well born have had good education and are young gentlemen, but they don't appear to be homesick At threshing time they sleep in the haymow and smilingly remark, "This is awfully jolly you know

We hear but little of late about dishorning cattle, and what little we hear goes to show that the craze of last year has passed by and dishorning has fallen into disrepute THE OREGONIAN made its opinion decidedly known in opposition to the practice and can take some satisfaction in finding that its opinion (taken at the time against all comers) has been very generally confirmed by the popular will and also by the courts An English society to prevent cruelty to animals brought action against a Norfolk farmer for dishorning his cattle and the case was tried before magistrates who dismissed the charge, but the society appealed to the high court of justice and the lord chief justice and Mr Hawkins made their judgment in writing reversing that of the magistrates and deciding against the farmer Their decision was at great length and covered the whole case For the purpose desired the great pain inflicted was unnecessary and the reasons given were not sufficient to justify it It concluded by saying the practice was not only barbarous and inhuman but clearly unlawful also"

Fire proof safes and fire proof houses are too often misnomers Recent conflagrations have laid the business portions of Seattle, Ellensburg Spokane and Vancouver Hailey, Reno and Bakersfield in ashes, and safes were not safe and fire proof houses vanished in smoke A lesson has been given—whether it has been learned or not—that should be heeded and made useful to the world When Chicago and Boston burned the flames went roaring over the city in fury In furnace heat comparable only to some volcano that in wrath overwhelms all its surroundings In such terrible conflagrations the most magnificent and steadfast work of human hands melts in the fierce destruction, and no saving grace is possible But fires that grow into resistless fury never begin in these more stable structures They start in some shop or stable Some Widow Leary's cow kicks over the lamp and the fire grows to resistless force Prudence dictates that no such kindling ground should be permitted no beginning place allowed to exist Had due precautions been taken all the great fires—from the night that Nero fiddled while Rome burned until now—would not have occurred

The other night Salem had a blaze that swept away several stables and came near destroying several homes The fire department was on hand to save and managed to prevent the flames spreading This was the work of an incendiary for there had been no fire in the buildings burned At Walla Walla after several such fires they set a detective to work, and the result was a discovery that about twenty boys 13 to 15 years old had formed a firebug association to burn and destroy the town. At Salem and other towns there have been such fires occurring for many years, at intervals, and boys have been detected conspiring for the purpose It is simply terrible that such things can be, for if boys grow up in such depravity what will they be when fully ripe in wickedness? The boy who plays the hoodlum and haunts the streets of any town by night and has the run of its saloons and livery stables will be apt to go to the bad. There is too much of perverting influence prevalent in all towns and small boys who lack paternal government become veterans in profane ways while yet mere children It is simply fearful to realize what schools for wickedness small towns become.

It has been suspected that the Chicago & Northwestern is interested in the Oregon Pacific and now it is said to be a certainty that it has advanced $5 000,000 to construct that road eastward from Albany Five millions should build a great deal of road on the route from the Cascades to Boise as the road will pass the head waters of the Deschutes, and sweep around the southern base of the Blue mountains. Crossing the Cascades will not be such a difficulty as on some other routes, for the foot of Mount Jefferson will be reached through an interesting region not all mountainous. The construction of this transcontinental route will open up a new region through Middle and Eastern Oregon, and develop a timbered district in the Cascades that will be of immediate importance to the road when built There are gold, silver, copper and lead mines in the mountains and probably coal lime and iron will be available The country east of the Cascades will become valuable for agriculture to some extent and whatever its resources may be they will soon become known and be available No greater work can be done for Oregon than the construction of the Oregon Pacific as the whole state must feel the benefits to come from that road

Is marriage a failure? Thus queries an English writer and it is astonishing how often the question is answered in the affirmative Nearly every man or woman will say yes, very decidedly, basing their opinion on the information they have of their neighbor's affair While the aforesaid neighbor comes the vice versa and bases an opinion on the quarrels of his own critic Could some power the giftie gie us" We should commence at home to use the "giftie" and discover all the gruesome things that happen there before journeying abroad The fact is we are all failures to some extent and all of us who are married charge it upon matrimony while those who are singular find the cue in that fact That marriage is to blame is about as reasonable as to think the moon a green cheese The failure is in the individual and when that personage performs well everything goes beautifully Men women and children have tendencies to failure that come and go as regular as the sun rises We are perfection when wrapped in slumber and only sinful when we are wide awake Take the world as it is and marriage is in every case as much a failure as individuals permit If life goes along smoothly then time and tide will wait for us to catch up, and if not why not of course

FEMALE SUFFRAGE

VANCOUVER W T August 21 1889

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Since the constitutional convention has finished the work of binding the women voters hands which the carpet bag judges so infamously began and especially since you have graciously endorsed their action by telling the disfranchised in your influential columns that we have no just cause to complain will you most kindly indulge one of your readers in the only alternative left us, which is to cry out as vigorously as possible in protest? Would you think men had no just cause to complain if women were to thus usurp their liberties? You cannot be ignorant of the fact that American women have no chance at all to secure justice among the ignorant voters of the native and foreign born classes of the male sex into whose hands the convention has consigned their liberties

Are we the women voters of Washington to be bound perpetually hand and foot by the measures you laud so highly? As the poor privilege of protest is all that is left to us will you not allow us space for protesting during the brief time that is to intervene between us and the culmination of this infamy in October?

As women voters we denounce that infamous separate article as an outrage upon the sacred principles of liberty never yet equaled in the political history of this nation The palmiest days of shotgun suffrage in the South never equaled it Even the judges who throttled us before the fight began had never seen anything so infamous anywhere south of Mason and Dixon's line

We ask space in THE OREGONIAN to fight as best we may, with tears at least since nothing else is left us Had we been permitted to decide the question for ourselves as men are left free to do for both themselves and us we should not have cause to complain As it is we are outraged insulted humiliated robbed Even the future legislatures are to be forbidden to unite our hands no matter how urgently they may wish to do so because this constitutional convention has taken advantage of our crippled condition and used its power to enslave our liberties perpetually through the combined tyranny of foreign born and native ignorance and every ballot box

We ask all fair minded men everywhere to help us defeat this constitution since there is no hope that they can outvote the opponents of our liberties on that separate article Infamy if they will combine and do the only thing [illegible] of just cause there is hope for the future of this state since if they reject the constitution as submitted [illegible] these men who have conspired to throttle us [illegible] into the transparent sophistry and subterfuge [illegible] tyranny and usurpation will be compelled to reconvene and supervise their work

M J HAYLE

Though THE OREGONIAN prints the [illegible] [illegible] not give it much space [illegible] articles bearing the canvass on the constitution The writer asserts volubly that women are robbed of their liberties This is mere poetry It is used [illegible] with [illegible] garnishment of language Persons who have not the suffrage have all the liberties possessed by those who have it and the non voter can no more be deprived of liberty life or property without due process of law than the voter and the same law applies to the one as to the other If women generally wanted the suffrage it probably would not be withheld from them but there is no evidence that any considerable number of them want it Suffrage is the basis of government and women are unable to maintain government because government is force and in the last resort is gun powder Theories may be fine enough but this is fact. We suppose the suffrage clause of the constitution will be beaten five to one But is it possible that men wish to oppress women deprive them of their liberties and sink them in servitude? These phrases from strident tongues mean nothing

EXPIATED HIS CRIME

Harry Roberts Hung at Butte, Montana Yesterday

ST LOUIS, Aug 23—A special to the Republic from Butte Mont, says Harry Roberts was hanged to-day for the murder of J W Crawford. The drop fell at 1 14, and Roberts's neck was broken by the fall.

Strong pressure was brought to bear by Grand Army men and a number of citizens to have the sentence commuted to life imprisonment, and it was not until 8 45 this morning that the condemned man abandoned all hope. When the sheriff read the message from Governor White refusing to interfere with the law's decree, Roberts did not weaken to the last and died as he had lived, a cool and determined man

Roberts's crime was the unprovoked killing of Crawford. Crawford was a teamster under Roberts and they had a quarrel, and Roberts shot him while drinking

A somewhat dramatic incident was connected with the burial of Crawford He was a goodnatured man and had many friends His relatives all lived at Butler, Mo and telegrams were sent asking them what disposition should be made of his remains. No answer was received for two days and the funeral procession with Crawford's remains was en route to the cemetery when the coroner came rushing out from the street with a telegram from the relatives. This stated that they would like to have the remains, but were too poor to pay the expenses of embalming and shipping A collection was taken up on the spot and the body brought back to town and embalmed and shipped, all expenses paid It was then discovered that $600 too much had been subscribed This amount was accordingly sent with the remains to the relatives

The convention also indorsed Chicago as the location for the World's fair and adjourned

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

A Spirited Debate on the Prisons Vote Which Was Finally Carried.

LONDON Aug 23—In the commons this evening in a debate on the prisons vote a spirited attack was made upon the treatment of Irish political prisoners

Mr Blunt gave a graphic account of his experience in Londonderry jail which he declared to be filthy

Sexton spoke of Londonderry jail as a pest house where prisoners contracted fevers and were thrust out to die. He detailed one case amid groans from the Parnellites who kept crying "Another murder" "There's the assassin"

This caused Mr Balfour to smile Balfour said that long familiarity with such attacks induced contempt He urged statistics to show that there was a lower rate of mortality in the Irish than in the English prisons

Mr Parnell contended that the Irish prisoners were half starved and the older jails he said, were in a terrible sanitary condition Mr Balfour he claimed was guilty of culpable neglect Mr Balfour did not compel his pet Belfast forgers to clean the prison cesspools.

The vote was adopted 113 to 69

SUMMER RESORTS

Banff Springs Hotel

ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

A perfectly constructed Summer and Winter Hotel, costing a quarter of a million dollars, situated on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway near the summit of the Rocky Mountains in the Canadian National Park. The house is electric lighted and has every comfort and convenience found in city hotels of the highest grade. The numerous hot sulphur springs in close proximity vary in temperature from 80 to 121 degrees, and perfect bathing facilities are supplied. Testimony to the wonderful curative properties of the waters is plentiful A first-class livery of driving and saddle horses forms part of the establishment, and there are excellent roads and walks in all directions built and maintained by the government. The house is 5000 feet above sea level and is surrounded by magnificent mountain peaks 5000 to 8000 feet high. In grandeur of scenery and purity of atmosphere the region is immeasurably superior to any similar health resort on the continent. The hotel rates are from $3 50 a day upward, and special terms for longer time may be had by addressing W L MATHEWS Manager Banff Alberta, Canada. NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—There was a cessation in the excitement in the stock market to-day, and trading was again dull and fluctuations small and generally insignificant, although the tone of the dealings was feverish and unsettled throughout the day. The market closed dull and steady. The only marked difference from last night's figures among the active list was a decline of 1⅝c in Chicago & Eastern Illinois at 43⅝c, the others being for small fractions only and about equally divided between gains and losses.

Government bonds have been dull and steady.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Receipts of produce during the past 24 hours included: 7600 ctls wheat, 10,000 qr sks flour, 1200 ctls oats, 4000 ctls barley, 2900 sks potatoes.

Freights—Inactive. No new business reported.

Wheat—The unfavorable tenor of Liverpool advices has caused the spot market to assume a dull and weak tone. There are few buyers in the market and offerings are only of small proportions, holders generally being unwilling to realize at present prices, which are quoted at $1 28¾ @1 30 for standard shipping. From private cables it is learned that Beerbohm's cargo quotations are too high. Options opened and closed easier. Sales of No. 1 white, buyer year, included 500 tons at $1 38, 900 tons at $1 38¾, and 500 tons at $1 38¼; closed $1 38; buyer season, $1 42¾; seller year, new, $1 30. Afternoon session—Buyer year opened $1 38¼, closed $1 38; buyer season, $1 42¼.

Barley—An improvement in the demand has given the market a steadier tone. Receipts are of fair proportions. Prices have not materially changed for choice feed. Quote 65@67½c; No 1, 82½@85c.

Oats—Business is quiet owing to a limited demand, but values are not quotably lower. Choice feed, $1 15@1 17½; No. 1, $1 12½@1 15; lower grades, $1 05@1 10.

Potatoes—A moderate business is passing at steady prices. Burbanks 75c@$1 25; Peerless 50@75c.

Millstuffs—Weak; demand slow. Oregon bran $13 per ton; middlings $14.

Bags—No change to be noted in the situation. A moderate business is passing at 7c for Calcuttas.

Wool—Dull and weak.

Hops—Inactive, nominal.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Receipts of wheat at the seven primary points east of the Rocky mountains for the past 24 hours, were 645,000 bushels and shipments 493,000 bushels.

A SCIENTIST ON SNAKES.

If You Have Nerve You May Handle Venomous Snakes.

From an article by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell on "The Poison of Serpents," in the August Century: Let us observe what happens when the rattlesnake means mischief. He throws himself into a spiral, and about one-third of his length, carrying the head, rises from the coil and stands upright. The attitude is fine and warlike, and artists who attempt to portray it always fail. He does not pursue; he waits. Little animals he scorns unless he is hungry, so that the mouse or the toad he leaves for days unnoticed in the cage. Larger or noisy creatures alarm him. Then his head and neck are thrown far back, his mouth is opened very wide, the fang held firmly erect, and with an abrupt swiftness for which his ordinary motions prepare one but little, he strikes once and is back on guard again, vigilant and brave. The blow is a stab and is given by throwing the head forward, while the half-coils below it are straightened out to length-en the neck and give power to the motions which drive the fangs into the opponent's flesh; as they enter, the temporal muscle closes the lower jaw on the part struck, and thus forces the sharp fangs deeper in. It is a thrust, aided by a bite. At this moment the poison duct is opened by the relaxation of the muscle which surrounds it, and the same muscle which shuts the jaw squeezes the gland, and drives its venom through the duct and hollow fang into the bitten part.

"In so complicated a series of acts there is often failure. The tooth strikes on tough skin and doubles back or fails to enter, or the serpent misjudges distance and falls short and may squirt the venom four or five feet in the air, doing no harm. I had a curious experience of this kind, in which a snake eight feet six inches long threw a teaspoonful or more of poison athwart my forehead. It missed my eyes by an inch or two. I have had many near escapes, but this was the grimmest of all. An inch lower would have cost me my sight and probably my life.

"A snake will turn and strike from any posture, but the coil is the attitude always assumed when possible. The coil acts as an anchor and enables the reptile to shake its fangs loose from the wound. A snake can rarely strike beyond half its length. If both fangs enter the hurt is doubly dangerous, because the dose of venom is doubled. At times a fang is left in the flesh, but this does not trouble the serpent's powers as a poisoner, since numberless teeth lie ready to become firmly fixed in its place, and both fangs are never lost together. The nervous mechanism which controls the act of striking seems to be in the spinal cord, for if we cut off a snake's head and then pinch its tail, the stump of the neck returns and with some accuracy hits the hand of the experimenter—if he has the nerve to hold on. Few men have. I have not. A little Irishman who took care of my laboratory astonished me by coolly sustaining this test. He did it by shutting his eyes and so shutting out for a moment the too suggestive view of the returning stump. Snakes have always seemed to me averse to striking, and they have been on the whole much maligned.

"Any cool, quiet person moving slowly and steadily may pick up and handle gently most venomous serpents. I fancy, however, that the vipers and the copperheads are uncertain pets. Mr. Thompson, the snake-keeper at the Philadelphia zoological, handles his serpents with impunity; but one day, having dropped some little moccasins a few days old down his sleeve while he carried their mamma in his hand, one of the babies bit him and made an ugly wound. At present the snake staff is used to handle snakes.

"I saw one October in Tangiers what I had long desired to observe—a snake charmer. Most of his snakes were harmless; but he refused, with well-acted horror, to allow me to take hold of them. He had also two large brown vipers; these he handled with care, but I saw at once that they were kept exhausted of their venom by having daily been teased into biting on a bundle of rags tied to a stick. They were too tired to be dangerous. I have often seen snakes in this state. After three or four fruitless acts or instinctive use of their venom they give up, and seem to become indifferent to approaches, and even to rough handling."

"Used Up,"

"Tired Out," "No Energy," and similar expressions, whenever heard, indicate a lack of vital force, which, if not remedied in time, may lead to complete physical and nervous prostration. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine to vitalize the blood, build up the tissues, and make the weak strong.

"For nearly three months I was confined to the house. One of the most celebrated physicians of Philadelphia failed to discover the cause of my trouble or afford relief. I continued in a bad way until about a month ago when I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It acted like a charm. I have gained flesh and strength and feel ever so much better. Shall continue using the Sarsaparilla until completely cured." —John V. Craven, Salem, N. J.

"I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be an admirable remedy for the cure of blood diseases. I prescribe it, and it does the work every time."—E. L. Pater, M. D., Manhattan, Kansas.

Ulcers and Fever Sores, resulting from varicose veins, necrosis of bones, old ulcers, epithelial cancers and fistula of every kind, successfully and permanently cured.

Abdominal Supporters, Elastic Bandages, Stockings, Trusses, etc., furnished at office or forwarded to all parts of the country.

Sending Medicine.—We send medicine to every part of the Union, both by mail and express, with such clear and explicit directions for use that no mistake can occur. While it is always desirable to see a patient, our thorough knowledge of the human body and its ailments enables us to prescribe with certainty and success in many diseases, if a description of the case is given.

Money should be sent by P. O. Order, Registered Letter, Postal Note or Express. All letters of inquiry will receive prompt attention.

TERMS.—Reasonable in all cases. Especially low to those getting small salaries and in limited circumstances.

Consultation Free.—If you are afflicted with any disease, no matter of what name or nature, come and let us see you. We will restore you to health if there is hope; if not, we will frankly tell you so. We take no case that is not curable. All who are in need of medical aid are invited to call.

TREATMENT BY CORRESPONDENCE

DR. POWELL REEVES & CO.,

132 and 134 Third St.

There are many afflicted persons in all parts of the country who desire to avail themselves of our skill and experience, but who are unable to come to our office. Some cannot spare either the time or money necessary to travel so far, and many more are physically unable to endure the fatigue and want of home comforts incident to a long journey. To accommodate this class we have perfected a thorough and remarkably successful system of treatment by correspondence, which enables the afflicted in all parts of the world to avail themselves of the benefits of our establishment at a very small cost. If you cannot consult us personally write a plain description of your condition, describing your symptoms in your own language, just as you experience them. When we receive this report and examine it carefully, we will give you our candid opinion of your case and the cost of treatment. If the report is not complete enough to be satisfactory, we will write you special questions to draw out any important particulars you may have omitted. When you order treatment the remedies will be carefully prepared, packed and forwarded to you by express. There will be no marks on the box to indicate where it comes from, and all letters you receive from us will be in plain envelopes, so that you may keep your transactions with us strictly confidential, if you so desire. Also be sure to write your name, postoffice, county and state plainly. All letters should be addressed to Dr. Powell Reeves & Co., 132 and 134 Third St., Portland, Or.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.

DR. POWELL REEVES & CO.,

132, 134 Third St..........Portland, Ore.

Ladies afflicted with any of the distressing ailments peculiar to their sex, such as persistent headaches, painful menstruation, leucorrhoea or whites, intolerable itching, displacement of the womb, etc., should not give up in despair because they have met with repeated disappointments in seeking for relief. We have cured hundreds of cases after other eminent physicians had pronounced them hopeless. If such diseases were indeed incurable, life would not be worth living to a large proportion of our American women. We treat all diseases of women, either at the office or by mail and express. Cures guaranteed.

NERVOUS Diseases (with or without dreams). Diseased discharges cured promptly, without hindrance to business.

BOTH SEXES consult confidentially. If in trouble call or write. Delays are dangerous.

Medicines compounded and furnished to all patients at office—strictly pure and vegetable. Guarantee of a permanent cure in all cases undertaken.

PRIVATE DISEASES,

Blood Poison, venereal taint, gleet, stricture, seminal emissions, loss of sexual power, weakness of the sexual organs, want of desire in male or female, whether from imprudent habits of young or sexual habits in mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual habit in mature years, speedily and permanently cured.

Consultation free and strictly confidential. Medicine sent free from observation to all parts of the United States. Correspondence receives prompt attention. No letters answered unless accompanied by four cents in stamps. Send ten cents in stamps for pamphlet and list of questions upon Private, Special and Nervous Diseases, Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhoea, Impotency, Syphilis, Gonorrhoea, Gleet and Varicocele. Terms strictly cash. Call on or address

A SCIENTIST ON SNAKES

If You Have Nerve You May Handle Venomous Snakes

From an article by Dr S Weir Mitchell on "The Poison of Serpents" in the August Century I take observe what happens when the rattlesnake means mischief He throws himself into a spiral and at about one third of his length carrying the head rises from the coil and stands upright The attitude is fine and warlike and artists who attempt to portray it always fail He does not pursue he waits Little animals he scorns unless he is hungry, so that the mouse or the toad he leaves for days unnoticed in the cage Larger or noisy creatures alarm him Then his head and neck are thrown far back his mouth is opened very wide the fangs held firmly erect and with an abrupt swiftness for which his ordinary motions prepare one but little he strikes once and is back on guard again vigilant and brave The blow is a stab and is given by throwing the head forward while the half coils below it are straightened out to length on the neck and give power to the motions which drive the fangs into the opponent's flesh, as they enter the temporal muscle closes the lower jaw on the part struck, and thus forces the sharp fangs deeper in It is a thrust, aided by a bite At this moment the poison duct is opened by the relaxation of the muscle which surrounds it and the same muscle which shuts the jaw squeezes the gland and drives its venom through the duct and hollow fang into the bitten part.

In so complicated a series of acts there is often failure The tooth strikes on tough skin and doubles back or fails to enter, or the serpent misjudges distance and falls short and may squirt the venom four or five feet in the air doing no harm I had a curious experience of this kind, in which a snake eight feet six inches long threw a teaspoonful or more of poison athwart my forehead It missed my eyes by an inch or two I have had many near escapes but this was the grimmest of all An inch lower would have cost me my sight and probably my life

"A snake will turn and strike from any posture, but the coil is the attitude always assumed when possible The coil acts as an anchor and enables the reptile to shake its fangs loose from the wound A snake can rarely strike beyond half its length If both fangs enter the hurt is doubly dangerous, because the dose of venom is doubled At times a fang is left in the flesh but this does not trouble the serpent's powers as a poisoner since numberless teeth lie ready to become firmly fixed in its place, and both fangs are never lost together The nervous mechanism which controls the act of striking seems to be in the spinal cord, for if we cut off a snake's head and then pinch its tail, the stump of the neck returns and with some accuracy hits the hand of the experimenter—if he has the nerve to hold on Few men have. I have not A little Irishman who took care of my laboratory astonished me by coolly sustaining this test He did it by shutting his eyes and so shutting out for a moment the too suggestive view of the returning stump Snakes have always seemed to me averse to striking and they have been on the whole much maligned

"Any cool quiet person moving slowly and steadily may pick up and handle gently most venomous serpents I fancy however that the vipers and the copperheads are uncertain pets Mr Thompson the snake keeper at the Philadelphia zoological, handles his serpents with impunity, but one day, having dropped some little moccasins a few days old down his sleeve while he carried their mamma in his hand one of the babies bit him and made an ugly wound At present the snake staff is used to handle snakes

"I saw one October in Tangiers what I had long desired to observe—a snake charmer Most of his snakes were harmless, but he refused with well acted horror to allow me to take hold of them He had also two large brown vipers these he handled with care but I saw it once that they were kept exhausted of their venom by having daily been teased into biting on a bundle of rags tied to a stick They were too tired to be dangerous I have often seen snakes in this state After three or four fruitless acts or instinctive use of their venom they give up and seem to become indifferent to approaches, and even to rough handling

"Tired Out" "No Energy," and similar expressions whenever heard, indicate a lack of vital force which, if not remedied in time, may lead to complete physical and nervous prostration Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine to vitalize the blood, build up the tissues, and make the weak strong.

"For nearly three months I was confined to the house One of the most celebrated physicians of Philadelphia failed to discover the cause of my trouble or afford relief I continued in a bad way until about a month ago when I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It acted like a charm. I have gained flesh and strength and feel ever so much better Shall continue using the Sarsaparilla until completely cured" —John V. Craven, Salem, N J.

"I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be an admirable remedy for the cure of blood diseases I prescribe it, and it does the work every time."—E. L. Pater, M D, Manhattan, Kansas is now admitted by the medical authorities to be a deficiency or undue waste of Oxidizable Phosphorus normally existing in the human economy. The remedy consists in the administration of a preparation of Phosphorus being at once assimilable and oxidizable. WINCHESTER'S HYPOPHOSPHITES is the only preparation of Phosphorus which combines these characteristics in the highest degree. For Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Night Sweats, and Nervous Diseases, it is unequaled. Recommended by Physicians. Sold by Druggists. $1 per bottle. Send for circular.

GREAT IS THE NORTHWEST.

Musings of the Nebraska Editor Who Has Been Here to See.

The Industries—Oregon and Washington—Portland's Future—Fruit and Fish—Great Timber Resources—Etc.

The following clipping taken from the Sunday Morning Call, of Lincoln, Neb., gives the musings of a Nebraska editor (who recently visited this country with a press excursion), after he returned to his native prairies and corn fields.

There is no need to write about the East—the East has and to spare, of people and gold It is the West that draws adventure Omaha, Lincoln, Denver, Cheyenne Ogden, Salt Lake City, Portland, Salem, Tacoma, Seattle, cities of half a dozen states in esse or yet posse—how varied in your severalties—how one, speaking as an ancient Greek would of his drama, in your unities Let the cities be considered in their states. Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho and Utah—agriculture and mining—each in their own way—the one will help to strengthen the other all through the times. It does not seem to this writer that more in these letters need be said about them and besides that, the great Northwest largely because it faces the ocean, but also because it is least known is his own special attraction. And the

INDUSTRIES OF THE NORTHWEST

What are they? Is there anything—the beautiful and picturesque included—in which the land is not rich? In the valleys and on the plains there is fertile land and clear mountain brooks and rivers flowing through the lands. If Oregon and Washington were to be isolated, and the people to live for themselves alone as the fairy tale says they would have "more than enough of all good stuff." But these are part of this mighty republic—for them there is no isolation Under old world conditions comparatively small peoples grew up in a limited country, one country caring for itself and none for the others, with the result that the nearest approach to general equal republican equality that Europe has yet reached is formulated in the doctrine of "the balance of power." The glory of America—more than its wealth—is in the ubiquity of the citizen and citizen rights. For the first time in human history a continent is with concurrent freedom being compacted into a nation—how greatly hopeful this fact is none but a close historic student can rightly appreciate So Oregon and Washington are not, and cannot be isolated Their rich soil, abundant minerals and gracious climate—not the English climate as is said except in favored Devonshire but the pasture feeding climate of Ireland with the grain and fruit ripening sun of France, and a better combination let the learned meteorologist show—is the appanage of all men, from furthest west to the east, to be utilized. With local jealousies your correspondent has now no concern There are those who say that Victoria is unenterprising and slow Well, the Sound cities say that of Portland and Ogden casts a similar stone at Salt Lake City The fact is that realized wealth unused and concreted is conservative and obstructive It has grown out of, and with the past and the restless present carries with it a danger which it thinks is to be resisted Your correspondent was not moved by but looked beyond those manifest jealousies and he has only good words for the whole country

PORTLAND HAS MADE ITSELF SURE,

And the other cities will do likewise The cities of the Sound have rich lands in their rear mountains filled with coal and other mineral riches, and the sea in front If they cannot create wealth out of these they are not pushing Americans, as your correspondent considered they were, on the few days' excursion—in which brief time an opened-eyed reporter ought to see much, if imperfectly What opportunities—and herein are included the inland valleys of Oregon and Washington—are theirs? The back country as their sure source of food and

THE PACIFIC OCEAN FOR TRADE

And how large the prospect the great sea, and the East running railways open In 1876 at Philadelphia, Oregon and Washington territory exhibited wheat and flax and fruit by no state or country excelled, except perhaps that the wheat according to your correspondent's memory was a little inferior to that of Australia but at all events their fruit is now of the best mark, and is needed all over the plains Of that fruit, as much as they can ship, can here be used—the only question is the cost of freight and it may be that one way of cheapening freight would be for the railway companies to operate the express. What is said of fruit is also to be said of the fish. Why not abundant fresh salmon and halibut in our market? On inquiry your correspondent found that it was still a question of freight, not of the means of supply Certainly we can not in our retail markets afford to pay more than 25 cents per pound for the best fish that swims This would be the inland trade, but what of the ocean? From old times those who have been able to shake the pagoda tree, whether in war or by peace, have had more than half the riches of the world at their command, and the nations in which they have dwelt have been the wealthy of the earth Oregon wheat goes to Hong Kong for the foreign residents there Is there a reason why trade like this in one product or another should not become general? Then there are

THE FISH BANKS OF THE ALASKA SEAS

Which there is good reason to believe are richer than the banks of Newfoundland and the North sea and if that be so, there are millions waiting for the trade with the fish eating peoples whose gates are washed by the Pacific Writing of fish the thought goes back to the Columbia and the salmon therein O, the multitude of unconscionable traps with which the salmon are destroyed, so that if it were not for the promise that is in the Oregon hatchery, one would fear that the great Columbia itself would be denuded of its fish life But the waters also always take their share of the lives that go on them Here is a simple, but as your correspondent is informed, o'er true ballad of what sometimes happens on the Columbia bar

Forth from the bay go the fisherfolk
Five hundred sail and more
'Tis a gallant army as the canvas fills
And the keels race from the shore.

In a bight of the bay the fisherfolk
(The cottage walls have reared
They part from the peace of the cottage roof
In the twilight, unfeared

The children's feet dance in the tide—
The sun still fires the pine—
The glad wife croons a cradle song
The mother song divine

There's peace for the land where harvest grows—
Where the apple and wheat's ripe brown
The waters hold harvests under the waves,
On the bar below the town

The sea rolls roaring over the bar,
The silvery salmon are shy
Vain is the net in the daylight dropped—
The swift fins swim thereby

So out in the night on the treacherous bar—
Out when the light is dim
The net is cast, and the net indrawn
The fish reach the gunnel's brim

The blind sea comes, and the blind sea goes
The fisherboat—where is she?
Swamped on the bar, and the fisherfolk stout
Death cold in the cruel sea.

It is woe—long woe—for the ocean's wrecks,
For women who weep and wait
The strength that went when the men went forth,
Comes never again through the gate

Yet, to the man's death with duty done,
Or in peace, or in needful war,
When the earth is new, shines the duty done
As the sapphire in the star

TIMBER RESOURCES

Your correspondent had intended, in such wise as he might to write of Behring's sea and Behring's strait but he is awearied and would rest, and will leave a brief geographical description of the same—which in present controversies will be its own sufficient explanation—to another time He had intended also to ransack Lewis and Clarke's "Travels to the Source of the Missouri River, and Across the American Continent to the Pacific Ocean,' for accounts of the flora and fauna, and national resources of the new territory as they found it. That also, is now beyond his power; but he will say that they discovered pine trees, 120 to 150 feet high, without a branch for a goodly height, and twelve feet from the ground eight feet in diameter. From the boats and car on which he journeyed the correspondent saw not nor expected to see such giants Near the lines of occupation and travel they have been cut down long ago but the mountains are clothed with timber—another of the resources of Oregon and Washington territory

SHE ALLEGES INHUMAN TREATMENT

On These Grounds Mrs Octavia Copley Wishes To Be Freed From Her Husband

Mrs. Octavia Copley, like many others, has found out—at least she alleges she has—that her husband and herself are not well matched and although she has been married to Robert Copley for twenty one years she has begun proceedings for divorce in the circuit court

The complainant sets forth in her complaint that on the 4th of August, 1888, her husband seized her by the hair of her head and dragged her about the room until he had torn nearly all the clothing off of her On one occasion the plaintiff alleges the defendant turned her and her children out of the house and with a revolver in hand threatened to kill her and the children Besides this Mrs. Copely and her children are in constant dread of his violence and his [illegible] acts

The parties to this action were married on the 4th day of November, 1868, at Canemah Clackamas county, and the fruits of said marriage are five children, aged 20 18, 15, 13 and 10 years respectively

AN INDIAN CHIEF BEWITCHED.

Enraged Alaskan Indians Handle the Accused Person Roughly.

On Sunday night of last week, says the Sitka Alaskan of August 18, an Indian bearing the unpronounceable cognomen of Kah gha-too-lagh came down from the Idaho inlet, on Cross sound, Hoonah country, to make complaint against an Indian shaman, "Doctor" Kah ah-chak, who had accused the first named native of bewitching Chief Kin-too-kahe-son In their wild fury the victim of the displeasure was surrounded his head drawn back, his hands bitten and mangled, resulting in half killing him. In addition, Kah-ah-chak compelled him to pay fifteen blankets and to present a trunk in settlement, The chief also issued orders for Kah gha too-lagh to be killed on sight, and the enraged Indians attacked his poor wife and nearly beat the breath out of her body At night hearing a commotion, and knowing that the natives were drunk, Kah gha-too-lagh went out and Indian Kut yah, by direction of the chief shot him, filling the blanket, which he wore at the time, with holes In the morning Kah gha too-lagh informed the shaman that he was going to Sitka to make a complaint. Whereupon the 'Doctor retorted that he was not afraid of white men nor their laws adding What can they do against me with my seven spirits My spirits will take care of me

Coming into town on the Sunday night the Indians waited upon Dr Jackson who took them to Governor Knapp After listening to their story through a mission interpreter the governor promptly called District Attorney Grant It was 2 30 o'clock on the Monday afternoon before the complainants appeared before Judge Jewett who as speedily as possible issued warrants for the arrest of the shaman on the charge of selling hoochinoo to the Indians and against Kin too lah and Kat ya for attempted murder Before Judge Jewett could learn the fact through Interpreter Kostrometinoff and issue the warrants it was 4 30 meanwhile ample time had elapsed for a message to be far on its way to the Hoonah Indians giving them every chance to hide and evade an officer The warrants are now in the hands of the United States marshal, but that officer has no possible means of transportation in order to make the arrests neither has he the money in his hands with which to defray the expense

EAST BANK GLEANINGS.

Another Smooth, Plausible Chap Gets Away With Ten Dollars

New Minister—Very Neat Church—Closing Services—All About a Dog—On a Trip—Home Again—Notes, Etc

Another case of successful swindling has come to light since the publication of the item the other day concerning the case of A Johnson The parties victimized in this last case are furniture dealers who requested that their names be not used in reporting it. A man came to their place of business and ordered quite a lot of furniture which he paid for with a check receiving about $10 in change back. The furniture was loaded into an express wagon and taken to a house as the man had directed In McMillen's addition when it was discovered that there was no such a place and that the man was an impostor It would be well for business men to be on their guard

HE PULLED A GUN

It is not gore I want—
But my dog —Anonymous

Some time ago Mr Frank Hewitt sold his dog to Mr Sommers, who keeps a second hand furniture store and the other day the dog disappeared Sommers got the impression that Hewitt had enticed the dog away, and Thursday morning he went around to Hewitt's house at a very early hour, to see if he could not find the dog He was seen by Frank's brother who demanded to know what he wanted at such an unseemly hour Sommers replied in angry tones that he was after his dog, and said he intended to have it He was informed that the animal was not at Hewitt's house He finally went off grumbling saying he would fix somebody

When Hewitt came down town he met Sommers near McCormick's store. He again demanded of Hewitt where the dog was The latter said he knew nothing about the animal and had not seen him since he (Sommers) had bought him Sommers began using very abusive language to Hewitt, when the latter ordered him to desist at the same time stepping toward him, remarking that if he (Sommers) were not an old man he would suffer for his abuse Sommers quickly drew a pistol from his pocket and poked it at Hewitt. The latter looked down the barrel saw the deadly bullet saw the cold glitter in Sommers's eye, noted the extreme nervousness of Sommers's finger as it pressed the trigger remembered all the evil deeds of his life—hen houses he had invaded watermelons he had swiped, fibs he had told—then it flashed through his mind that he had on hand a job of horse shoeing that had to be finished in one minute and a half and he departed

NEW CHURCH AND NEW MINISTER

Elder R. M Messick of Trenton, Missouri will arrive here and take charge of the Christian church in East Portland by October He is spoken of in high terms and will no doubt do much to build up the church A very neat and comfortable chapel has been finished on Tenth and J streets. It is seated with chairs and benches so as to accommodate fully 300 people The chapel is well lighted and is really an attractive audience room

SPECIAL MEETING WANTED

A special meeting of the common council can probably be held Monday night At that time there will likely be in the city and able to attend, Councilmen Lewis Stott, Shannon Ferry and Martin It was not learned yesterday how Councilmen Murphy and McMahon are, but one or both may be able to attend If possible, a special meeting should be held on account of street work

FAVORABLE OPINION

Quite a number of prominent citizens have expressed an opinion favorable to raising funds to help defray the expenses of the hose team that will go to Tacoma to enter the firemen's contest at that place It is right and proper that the boys should be aided in the matter If some one will take the matter in hand, there would not be much trouble about raising a good sum

CLOSING SERVICES.

The closing services for the conference year in the Centenary M E. church will take place to morrow After the morning services the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered and "love feast" in the evening By the next Sunday the new minister who will have charge of the church for the ensuing conference year will probably be on hand

SONG SERVICE

A very interesting song service has been prepared by the music committee of the Young Men's Christian Association and will be given at their rooms corner Fourth and I streets tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock This will take the place of the regular address to young men All men are welcome both those who sing and those who do not

RETURNED HOME

Rev D O Ghormley and family returned yesterday from Clatsop where they have been for several weeks. Rev Ghormley will occupy his pulpit at the Presbyterian church to morrow morning at 11 o'clock There will be no evening services

LEFT FOR CALIFORNIA

C. C Grimes superintendent of the Portland & Vancouver Railroad Company left for San Francisco last night for a short trip

NO MORE 'REGULAR JURORS

No Applicants Will Hereafter Be Accepted, but They Will Be Prosecuted

The law passed by the last legislature and approved on the 25th of February providing that no person applying for the privilege to serve on any trial jury shall be eligible for such service, will be applied when the circuit court reconvenes Monday September 2 This will be unwelcome news to many who have heretofore during the entire term of the two departments of the circuit court lounged about the courthouse waiting for the regular panel to be exhausted, when they would apply and were in most cases gladly accepted as jurors It used to be amusing to see some of this class of men get into the box and solemnly swear that they had not read the published accounts of important cases they were about to sit upon when the folds of the paper they carried in their pockets were yet fresh

The law on this subject which will hereafter be rigidly enforced reads

SECTION 1 —Any person who shall ask or request any sheriff constable or other person whose duty it is or may be under the law to select or summons any jury or juror that he be selected summoned or put upon the jury or shall procure or offer to procure for himself or for another person a place upon any jury, or shall seek to have himself or another placed upon the list of jurors that is now by law required to be made shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $300

SEC 2 —Any sheriff constable, or other person whose duty it may be under the law to select or summons a jury who shall select summons or place upon any jury any person whom he has been asked or requested to select or summons, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $300

This will be rather hard on the old boys who have heretofore jumped at the chance to sit in a jury during the bleak wintry days in a warm court room for $[illegible] per diem

The council adjourned to meet Saturday evening at 8 o'clock

NEWS ABOUT THE TOWN

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL

It is very unfortunate for the pupils and patrons of the Central school that Morris street has been cut in grading to such an extent that it is impossible to enter the building from the front As it stands now the cut is within two feet of the building, and from eight to twenty feet deep Notice was served on the contractor to stop work, so nothing has been done so far It has not yet been decided whether the city or school district shall bear the expense of remedying this state of affairs. If rain sets in before anything is done, it will be impossible for the children to ascend the steep bank

TWO ACCIDENTS

Monday forenoon Charles Gould a young man in the employ of the O R & N Co had the index finger of his right hand crushed while coupling cars in the yard He had to have it amputated above the second joint by Dr Boyd

A carpenter named Spencer working on the elevator while chiseling some timbers cut the third finger of his hand with the chisel so that it was nearly severed He held up his hand and asked a companion near by to cut the remaining flesh which was done He fainted from the loss of blood but was revived with a bucket of water, and was sent over to Portland to have his hand dressed, but was chided for being in such haste in cutting the remaining shred of the finger

A LIVELY SCENE

Williams avenue presents a scene of bustle and excitement A great many men are laying the track from Grant to Morris street The street is blockaded with teams hauling away earth and other teams bringing gravel. The earth is thrown up along the track and with the large amount of ties and rails along the track the travel on the street is somewhat impeded But this instead of being a source of annoyance causes great satisfaction to property owners in the vicinity who expect to ride in the cars to Portland all for a nickel

OFFICIAL VISIT

Mr George W Cushing general superintendent of the motive power of machinery from Omaha and Mr John Evans master mechanic from The Dalles visited Albina yesterday and made a general inspection of the car shops and machinery

IN THE LATHERS HANDS

The addition to the Albina school house is now in the lathers hands It is expected that the first floor will be completed and ready for occupancy by the time school commences in September

GRADED

Abernethy avenue is now graded, and the sidewalk completed on both sides All that now remains to be done is to bridge the two gulches between Page and Grant streets.

PUSHING THE WORK.

The grading from the Goldsmith bridge to the street in front of the property of Captain W H Foster is being pushed as fast as men and teams can work

IMPROVEMENTS

Mr Kent is having a building erected on his property on Nob hill to be occupied as a store

A POLITICAL SURPRISE.

The Result of the North Dakota Republican Convention Held at Fargo.

A Popular Triumph, and the Defeat of Carpetbag Politicians by the Farmers and Scandinavians—A Warning to Washington

The republican convention to nominate candidates for the several positions in the new state of North Dakota convened at Fargo, Dak, on the 21st inst, concluding its work on the 22d, to the surprise, astonishment and defeat of the cut and dried programme of the politicians. Probably none of the territories, soon to become states, possessed as many of the ex politicians of the states as the two Dakotas From the incipiency of politics in the two Dakotas the carpet baggers or those coming to the territory with Federal commissions in their pockets have controlled the political destiny of that territory A majority of the delegates in congress in the past from that territory have been those who held federal positions prior to their election as delegates In the division of the territory each half possessed the same controlling political element

The candidate for governor of the new state was General Harrison Allen a protege of Hon Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania Through his Cameron connection he was chief auditor of Pennsylvania this being his chief success although he is a splendid orator and a bright man During the Arthur administration he was commissioned United States marshal of Dakota serving his full term While in this position he [illegible] stock in the Black Hills which yielded him from $[illegible] 000 to $[illegible] 000 [illegible] with other ventures in that new country have [illegible] him a rich man [illegible] by the public He has been a candidate for delegate in congress also for territorial governor being [illegible] by the appointment of Governor Mellette [illegible] Dakota [illegible] Harrison Allen [illegible] with the [illegible] of his county [illegible] representing twenty one votes It was also supposed [illegible] In the proportion of the [illegible] farming element or farmers [illegible] not properly represented [illegible]

The president of the State Grange farmers [illegible] circular some thirty days ago urging the farmers to attend the [illegible] convention The leading newspapers ridiculed this circular and attacked [illegible] who had also urged the farmers to lend support to the [illegible] the alliance was successful in securing their own man for governor

The convention met with the farmers holding one majority only With this [illegible] organization nominated a Mr John Miller a popular farmer of [illegible] and who is a [illegible] of [illegible] New York

The balance of the [illegible] is fairly [illegible] of state [illegible] Hon John Flittie a Norwegian of Traill [illegible] the judges being among the most able non partisan but republican lawyers in the territory [illegible] Judge Alfred Wallin [illegible] C H Corliss of Grand Forks and Judge Bartholomew of the Missouri slope The lieutenant governor is from central North Dakota The candidate for congress being a newspaper man from Devils Lake in North Dakota midway between the southern boundary and the British boundary This candidate for congress Mr H C Hansborough is the original or first divisionist among the newspaper men in Dakota

None of these candidates have ever held any but minor local offices in the past. Their advent on the political stage is a complete defeat for the old political workers of the past—the future resting in the hands of the farmers and the Scandinavian element, which means unquestioned and overwhelming success for the republican party The legislature will be under the same control and the present candidates for the United States senate both ex governors of the territory Governors A Pierce and Governor N G Ordway a man known in national politics having for many years held the position of sergeant at arms of congress He is from New Hampshire but has lived in Washington twenty five years The moment the enabling act for the admission of the territories was passed Governor Ordway returned to North Dakota claimed residence bought a farm near Grafton in the north part of North Dakota and commenced a judicious campaign for the senate Governor Ordway has been the most cordially hated man in all Dakota but strange as it may seem twenty six of the leading newspapers in North Dakota (only one of which had ever been his friend) [illegible] endorse him for the senate

It has been universally conceded up to date that Pierce and Ordway would be the first senators from that state Now things are changed The strong probability is that two farmers or one farmer and one Norwegian will be the successful ones [illegible] that unless Mr Miller the nominee for governor [illegible] successor of Alfred Dickey the candidate for lieutenant governor (his [illegible] being objectionable to the farmers) he (Miller) will be one of the senators But as it now looks Mr Fancher a farmer and president of the constitutional convention will be one of the senators and Mr Johnson a bright aggressive and popular Norwegian will be the other

The result of the convention should teach a lesson to our neighboring state of Washington It behooves our good friends to remember all the [illegible] the party and to note that the American people are fond of [illegible] is exercised It is possible that a surprise will follow the result of the Walla Walla convention Whatever occurs it is hoped that our party managers will not forget that the party is greater than any man or men So far as the farmers candidates in Dakota are concerned the new state will not suffer in their hands The gentlemen mentioned herein as probably successful are men of character ability education and brains they being deficient only in one thing, viz the manipulation of politics as taught in the past Their success now is by their strength

SIDEWALKS AND CROSSWALKS

"Now, by St Paul, the Work Goes Bravely on!"

The city has been calling on citizens of late for extensive improvements in the way of sidewalks and crosswalks and now it is about to follow suit and mend its own ways The committee on streets will on Tuesday next let a contract to the lowest bidder for about 1000 feet of sidewalk in front of public property in accordance with the recommendation of Superintendent of Streets W S Chapman Contractors in the sidewalk business have now a chance to secure a good job but they must not expect the city to pay more than private parties do

CAUTION W L DOUGLAS' name and the price are stamped on the bottom of all shoes advertised by him before leaving his factory this protects the wearer against high prices and inferior goods. If your dealer does not keep the style or kind you want, or offers to sell you shoes without W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on them, and says they are just as good do not be deceived thereby but send direct to the factory for you can get what you want by return mail postage paid. Dealers make more profit on unknown shoes that are not warranted by anybody therefore do not be induced to buy shoes that have no reputation Buy only those that have W L Douglas' name and the price stamped on the bottom and you are sure to get full value for your money Thousands of dollars are saved annually in this country by the wearers of W L Douglas Shoes In ordering by mail state whether you want Congress Button or Lace London cap toe plain French toe or narrow cap toe and be sure to give size and width you wear I can fit any foot that is not deformed as my shoes are made in a great variety of widths sizes and half sizes I guarantee a fit prompt delivery and perfect satisfaction or money refunded upon return of shoes in good condition W L DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.
